AGRICULTURE'S STRIDE TOWARDS RECOVERY

SECY. HOOVER REVIEWS AMERICAN ECONOMIC PROGRESS

BUYING POWER OF FARMER RE- TURNING TO PRE-WAR VALUE

HIGH PRICES OF FARM PRODUCTS FUNDAMENTALLY SOUND

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 17.—Agriculture's stride toward complete recovery was the outstanding development in America's economic progress of the fiscal year ended June 30, Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared in his annual review of business conditions issued here today.

Buying power of the farmer returned close to pre-war value, and while technical industries showed substantial advances during the same period the ratio between them and agriculture was appreciably reduced, Hoover said.

High production, full employment and greater stability of prices than during any period since the slump of 1920 were other features of the year. A continuation of this condition and progress toward still greater prosperity, now that agriculture is joining the march, was indicated in the report. Hoover believes that the present high prices of farm products are fundamentally sound and are the product of general conditions rather than manipulation.

Expanding foreign credits and trade were stressed by Hoover as major factors in the brightening European situation.

PRESIDENT'S FARM COMMISSION ACTIVE

Washington, Nov. 17.—President Coolidge's agricultural commission, charged with the task of evolving a plan to protect American agriculture from recurrence of periods of over-production and serious depression, began its labors today.

The president planned to address the commission's organization meeting at the White House, outlining the purposes for which he had appointed the commission and urging a free and full inquiry into farming conditions.

BISHOP ATE HIS BOOTS IN YUKON

ECCLESIASTIC TELLS OF TRYING TIMES TO AVERT STAR- VATION

London, Ont. Nov. 17.—How Bishop Stringer of the Yukon came to be known as the "bishop who ate his boots" was retold on the arrival of Bishop Stringer and Mrs. Stringer for the triennial general synod of the Anglican church in Canada here. The bishop has been 32 years in this, the farthest north diocese of the church, and like most men who have seen life in the raw and strenuous state, he is reticent. When asked, however, about the time he ate his boots, he explained:

"Oh, that's an old story. It's true enough, though. It was back in 1909. Another chap and I were going along the Rat River from Fort McKenzie to another mission. After we had gone some distance we found there was no game and there were no friendly Indians. Our food ran out, so we decided to turn back and try to make Ft. McPherson.

"Grub got scarcer, and there was nothing for us to shoot, so we finally got down to the boot top stage you have heard about."

"Is there any real nourishment in boot tops?"
"Oh, yes, there is in the rawhide variety. You couldn't do it with tanned boots. We cut the tops into strips and boiled them. If you chew that well you can get some nourishment out of it. That's what we did anyway, and we got back to Ft. McPherson, though we nearly starved. That's the closest call I ever had in the Yukon."

$40,000 ALCOHOL POURED INTO SEWER IN MINNEAPOLIS

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Nov. 17.—Alcohol valued at $40,000 was poured into the sewer by prohibition agents here Sunday while a crowd looked on.
The alcohol was shipped in steel drums in a freight car from Boston to the "Western Shingle Company, Minneapolis." On a tip from the east agents traced the car and watched it all night Saturday night. No one showed up to claim it, so agents confiscated the 3,888 gallons of grain alcohol and destroyed it.

TWO MEN SLAIN IN GUN BATTLE AT PARK RESORT

BLOODY ENCOUNTER TOOK PLACE AT EAGLE PARK RESORT NEAR GRANITE CITY, ILL.

BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $1,600 IN AN AUTOMOBILE

(By United Press)
East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 17.—Two men, a bandit and a guard, were slain in a gun battle at Eagle Park resort near Granite City early today after which the bandits escaped with $1,600 in an automobile.

Melvin Norville, a guard at the roadhouse, reached for his gun and was shot down. "Chicken" Ridge, another guard also fired and shot one bandit twice. The robbers returned the fire and wounded Ridge slightly. Intimidating the dozen customers of the place, they grabbed the money and took Norville and their wounded companion outside.

The bandits then shot Norville three times more, killing him, and threw the body out of the automobile in Granite City. They took their wounded companion, whose name was said to be Halley, to a hospital, where he died a few hours later.

Ridge will recover. Harry Bricker, former owner of the place and a negro were found shot to death in the same place September 24, when police advanced the theory an attempted holdup resulted in a gun battle.

SHIPPERS OPPOSE RATE INCREASE

CARRIERS' EASTERN PROPOSAL HELD IMPROPER AND UN- WARRANTED

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—Emphatic opposition to the carriers' proposal to revise eastern class freight rates "upward" was expressed by 500 shippers at Chicago.

This information came to the St. Paul Association from Herman Mueller, traffic director of the Association, in a telegram to Ed Berg, rate expert of the department.

This proposed increase of rate schedules on freight from eastern territory has a direct bearing on the northwest. According to the resolution adopted by the shippers the proposal is "improper, unwarranted and without justification."

In a long statement on the question the shippers declared that the service of the carriers between Chicago and New York has deteriorated from a 60-hour service to one of 84 hours. It explains the general issues concerning inter-territorial rates.

The proposal of the railroads was made Oct. 15. Following the Chicago conference the general question will be submitted to the interstate commerce commission some time after Jan. 1, Mr. Berg indicated.

INVESTIGATE WITHDRAWALS OF ALCOHOL

SENATE COMMITTEE PROBING INTERNAL REVENUE DE- PARTMENT

SEN. JAMES COUZENS, CHAIRMAN, MAKES STATEMENT TODAY

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 17.—Evidence of illegality in withdrawals of alcohol on permits will be presented to the Senate committee investigating the internal revenue department when it reconvenes, Senator James Couzens, chairman, announced upon his arrival here today.

"During the recess of our committee we have investigated and discovered evidence indicating gross irregularity in connection with withdrawal permits issued by prohibition bureau," Couzens declared.

"A report on the situation will be presented and the committee will decide what action should be taken." Couzens declared he believed the "biggest loophole in prohibition enforcement came through alcohol withdrawals.

CONFERENCE ON TO SUPPRESS TRAFFIC IN DOPE

OPIUM, COCAINE AND HARMFUL DRUG PEDDLING UNDER THE BAN

MEETING HELD UNDER AUSPICES OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

(By United Press)
Geneva, Nov. 17.—The atmosphere was tense when the international conference to suppress traffic in opium, cocaine and harmful drugs convened at noon today, with a strong American delegation present.

A bitter dispute between the delegates of Japan and England at a different conference—one for the suppression of opium smoking in the Far East—nearly disrupted the latter parley yesterday and fears were entertained that its effects might be noted today.

Not only was the League of Nations under whose auspices both conferences were held, declared to be facing its greatest crisis since the Corfu incident, but European delegates were fearful over what might be the effects of a row upon the American representatives.

The latter's representatives, John Porter Bishop Brent, Assistant Surgeon-General Blue, Mrs. Hamilton Wright, and Edwin Neville were expected to enter the conference with a clean-cut American program and push it for all that they are worth.

Forty-eight states participated in the parley, which was convened at 10 a. m. The United States was expected to play the leading role and her decisions to be the dominant factor in the deliberations, despite the fact that the Treaty of Versailles entrusted control of international opium traffic to the League of Nations.

$4,000 MAIL

ROBBERY LOOT BURIED IN JARS

Chicago, Nov. 17.—Four thousand of the $3,000,000 loot of a mail robbery at Roundout, Ill., was buried in four jars six miles north of San Antonio, Tex., on the Frederick road, Jesse Newton, one of the confessed bandits, testified at the trial of a former postal inspector and two Chicago politicians charged with plotting the robbery.

NOVEMBER WARMTH VANISHES BEFORE WINTER'S ICY BREATH

(By United Press)
Forty-eight persons were killed in 22 cities and towns of the United States in automobile accidents over the week-end, according to reports to the United Press today. These accidents resulted in serious injury to 157 other persons.

King Winter's cohorts, snow, sleet, high winds, and freezing temperatures took possession of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York and the northeast seaboard over the week-end.

Record droughts and exceptional November warmth vanished as real winter weather arrived with a blast of sleet storms and a subsequent moderate snowfall.

Three persons are known to have been killed by the storm, an unidentified man and an unidentified woman having been reported as the victims, while a locktender on the Monongahela River was thrown into the icy water and drowned.

New York City was free from snow except for occasional flurries, but the temperature was only 18 degrees at 8 a. m. Buffalo was harassed by snow, sleet and rain, with similar temperatures. Up in Albany it was only 8 degrees above zero.

The Adirondacks are blanketed with snow, the fall ranging from one to 15 inches. The mountains of central Pennsylvania were under several inches of snow.

Chicago and parts of Illinois and Indiana had the first snow of the year today, while Ohio was recovering from the effects of its first serious storm, which was accompanied by a 50-mile gale.

(By United Press)
Chicago, Nov. 17.—General Dawes slept well and spent a comfortable night, was the bulletin issued by the Evanston hospital here, where Chas. G. Dawes, republican vice-president-elect, is recuperating from an operation for hernia.

"The patient is doing nicely," the bulletin stated.

Dawes, operated on late yesterday, only a few hours after the recurrence of an attack of rupture which first became evident six years ago when the general was taking his examination for army service.

Only local anesthetic was used, Dawes chatting during the operation. After the operation he dictated a telegram to President Coolidge explaining that the operation was not serious.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR MEETS

ADDRESS BY SAMUEL GOMPERS AND ANNUAL REPORT EXECU- TIVE COMMITTEE

MARKS FIRST ORDER OF BUSI- NESS AT OPENING 44TH CONVENTION

(By United Press)
El Paso, Tex., Nov. 17.—An address by Samuel Gompers and the annual report of the executive committee was to be the first order of business at the opening session of the 44th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor today.

Representatives of more than 100 labor organizations in the United States, embracing a membership of from 3,000,000 were here to participate in the convention.

A committee on resolutions was to be named after the session got under way. The delegates were guests Sunday of the Mexican Federation of Labor, which is holding its convention at Juarez. A bullfight was a feature of the entertainment program.

The day was marred by the activities of pickpockets in the huge crowds, one delegate losing nearly $1,000 in express money orders when his purse was lifted.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 17.—Organized labor today reaffirmed through the annual report of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, made to the Federation convention here today, that "reform of the supreme court and direct election of federal judges" is the principal plank in its political platform.

"The exercise of the powers of the courts in industrial disputes has become a menace to our institutions and to the practices of free men," the report said. "The misuse of the injunction has become so menacing as to threaten to undermine public confidence in the judiciary."

2 PASSENGER TRAINS COLLIDE HEADON; ENGINEER KILLED

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 17.—Geo. Diemert, engineer, was killed and several persons were injured when the Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 20, eastbound, and No. 13, westbound, collided headon at Syracuse, east of here today, according to reports to the company's office. Details of the wreck were lacking here.

WEALTHY REALTY MAN'S DEATH IS AKIN TO JEWELER'S

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Nov. 17.—Authorities were without clues today to the murder of Albert E. Rosenblum, Los Angeles real estate salesman, whose body was found lying across the walk on the fashionable Wilshire boulevard last night.

Police said Rosenblum had been shot. His body apparently had been thrown from an automobile. Rosenblum's death parallels that of Harry I. Katz, wealthy Los Angeles clubman, more than a week ago, police declared. Rosenblum's body was found by his two brothers.

FORMER BANK HEAD ARRESTED IN FARGO, N. D.

H. P. BECKWITH INDICTED BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY ON 29 COUNTS

CHARGE MISAPPLICATION AND EMBEZZLEMENT OF FUNDS, ETC.

(By United Press)
Fargo, N. D., Nov. 17.—H. P. Beckwith, former president of the Northern National Bank, Fargo, was arrested today on an indictment by the federal grand jury on 29 counts charging misapplication and embezzlement of funds and false entries in the bank records. He was to be arraigned this afternoon. The court said bail would be fixed at $15,000.

Assets of the Northern National Bank were sold last July to the Security National Bank to prevent a run and save depositors from loss. Stockholders are believed to have lost their entire investment of $100,000, although an attempt is being made to liquidate some of the assets which the Security bank refused to take over.

False entries charged against Beckwith date back to March 31, 1922, and an alleged defalcation of $45,000 was paid into the bank last July by Beckwith's father, Louis Beckwith, of Mitchell, S. D.

MORGAN LOSES RACE WITH DEATH

MOTHER DIES, AND HE IS UN- ABLE TO REACH HER BED- SIDE BEFORE DEMISE

(By United Press)
New York, Nov. 17.—J. Pierpont Morgan, famous international banker, has lost his race with death.

While the banker was dashing to her bedside from France, on the Berengaria, his aged mother died at her home at Highland Falls, New York, today. No details of her death had been received at the office of the Morgan firm here.

Mrs. Morgan was past 80 years of age. She had been ill for several days.

Her son was notified while he was in Paris last week and set out for home at once. Radio advice of her death was sent to him aboard the Berengaria. It was said at the Morgan office. He is expected to arrive in New York late Friday or early Saturday.

The immediate cause of death was pneumonia, which, because of the patient's advanced age—she was 83—caused physicians to give up hope. Death came shortly after midnight.

Doctors said the aged woman had been in a coma for four days preceding her death.

Plans for the funeral will not be announced until after the arrival of the son.

Mrs. Morgan before her marriage was Frances Louise Tracy.

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 17.—General John J. Pershing has been urged upon President Coolidge for appointment as secretary of war in event John W. Weeks carries out his reported intention to retire from the cabinet, it was learned today.

Pershing's friends believe he is the logical successor because of his unequalled grasp of the duties of the office and because it was felt the appointment would be a fitting reward for his long services.

The now retired general of the army has let it be known he would accept the post if it were proffered him.

U. S. ANKLES WORRY GERMAN FASCISTI

(By United Press)
Berlin, Nov. 17.—The German Fascisti, who believe in Germany for Germans only, have started a campaign against the shapely ankles and rounded calves of foreign dancers. These, they say solemnly and with "fatherlandish" emphasis, ruin the youth of Germany.

Rather let the youth study Bismarck and Ludendorff than to learn about "Moses in the bull rushes." The "German hero" is the only subject fit for study and also for theatrical production. All other subjects, may the author be a German or a foreigner, shall be banished from the German stage.

SAYS CHICAGO IS CRADLE OF CRIME

UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR CLAIMS HE COUNTED 100,000 GANGSTERS

Chicago, Nov. 17.—One hundred thousand gangsters live in Chicago, Prof. Frederick M. Thrasher of the department of social science of the University of Chicago reported today following a three-year investigation of crime and criminals during which he was intimately associated with bands of criminals.

Prof. Thrasher's investigation showed the existence of 1,331 gangs of safe blowers, porch climbers, professional gun men, labor gangsters and specialists of every kind in the category of crime.

Thrasher's conclusions were that the city is the "crime cradle" of America and that no matter where they occur the big crimes usually could be traced to Chicago. The gangsters, he said, have perfected a unique system of training for "apprentices."

He found a criminal syndicate of boys and girls ranging in age from 16 to 21 years, known as the "gang shags." The "rollers of the dimes" specialize in fleeing drunkards and the "risky night riders" fleece the fleecers.

Among other notes made by Prof. Thrasher was to the effect that the bad die young, the average criminal living to be only 28 years old.

Coincident with the report, caustic criticism of "rubber stamp" judges were made by Chief of Police Morgan Collins and Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes, who have opened a drive to clean up the city.

FUNDS, ETC.

(By United Press)
Fargo, N. D., Nov. 17.—H. P. Beckwith, former president of the Northern National Bank, Fargo, was arrested today on an indictment by the federal grand jury on 29 counts charging misapplication and embezzlement of funds, and false entries in the bank records. He was to be arraigned this afternoon. The court said bail would be fixed at $15,000.

Assets of the Northern National Bank were sold last July to the Security National Bank to prevent a run and save depositors from loss. Stockholders are believed to have lost their entire investment of $100,000, although an attempt is being made to liquidate some of the assets which the Security bank refused to take over.

False entries charged against Beckwith date back to March 31, 1922, and an alleged defalcation of $45,000 was paid into the bank last July by Beckwith's father, Louis Beckwith, of Mitchell, S. D.

MORGAN LOSES
RACE WITH DEATHMOTHER DIES, AND HE IS UN-ABLE TO REACH HER BED-SIDE BEFORE DEMISE

(By United Press)
New York, Nov. 17.—J. Pierpont Morgan, famous international banker, has lost his race with death.

While the banker was dashing to her bedside from France, on the Berengaria, his aged mother died at her home at Highland Falls, New York, today. No details of her death had been received at the office of the Morgan firm here.

Mrs. Morgan was past 80 years of age. She had been ill for several days.

Her son was notified while he was in Paris last week and set out for home at once. Radio advice of her death was sent to him aboard the Berengaria, it was said at the Morgan office. He is expected to arrive in New York late Friday or early Saturday.

The immediate cause of death was pneumonia, which, because of the patient's advanced age—she was 83—caused physicians to give up hope. Death came shortly after midnight.

Doctors said the aged woman had been in a coma for four days preceding her death.

Plans for the funeral will not be announced until after the arrival of the son.

Mrs. Morgan before her marriage was Frances Louise Tracy.

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 17.—General John J. Pershing has been urged upon President Coolidge for appointment as secretary of war in event John W. Weeks carries out his reported intention to retire from the cabinet, it was learned today.

Pershing's friends believe he is the logical successor because of his unequalled grasp of the duties of the office and because it was felt the appointment would be a fitting reward for his long services.

The now retired general of the army has let it be known he would accept the post if it were proffered him.

U. S. ANKLES WORRY
GERMAN FASCISTI

(By United Press)
Berlin, Nov. 17.—The German Fascisti, who believe in Germany for Germans only, have started a campaign against the shapely ankles and rounded calves of foreign dancers. These, they say solemnly and with "fatherlandish" emphasis, ruin the youth of Germany.

Rather let the youth study Bismark and Ludendorff than to learn about "Moses in the bull rushes." The "German hero" is the only subject fit for study and also for theatrical production. All other subjects, may the author be a German or a foreigner, shall be banished from the German stage.

SAYS CHICAGO IS
CRADLE OF CRIMEUNIVERSITY PROFESSOR CLAIMS
HE COUNTED 100,000
GANGSTERS

Chicago, Nov. 17.—One hundred thousand gangsters live in Chicago, Prof. Frederick M. Thrasher of the department of social science of the University of Chicago reported today following a three-year investigation of crime and criminals during which he was intimately associated with bands of criminals.

Prof. Thrasher's investigation showed the existence of 1,331 gangs of safe blowers, porch climbers, professional gun men, labor gangsters and specialists of every kind in the category of crime.

Thrasher's conclusions were that the city is the "crime cradle" of America and that no matter where they occur the big crimes usually could be traced to Chicago. The gangsters, he said, have perfected a unique system of training for "apprentices."

He found a criminal syndicate of boys and girls ranging in age from 16 to 21 years, known as the "gang shags." The "rollers of the dimes" specialize in fleecing drunkards and the "risky night riders" fleece the fleecers.

Among other notes made by Prof. Thrasher was to the effect that the bad die young, the average criminal living to be only 28 years old.

Coincident with the report, caustic criticism of "rubber stamp" judges were made by Chief of Police Morgan Colling and Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes, who have opened a drive to clean up the city.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS

Jury in Case of State vs Nora Campbell Out About 25 Hours, Unable to Agree

JURY DISCHARGED SUNDAY

Many Charged With Liquor Offenses Withdraw Not Guilty Plea, and Plead Guilty

The jury in the case of the state against Nora Campbell, charged with adultery, deliberated all of Saturday night, and came into the district court at 4:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and informed the court that it had been unable to reach an agreement. The foreman advised the court that the count stood 10 to 2. The jury was thereupon discharged from further service in this case.

On Monday morning B. M. McGarry, charged with selling liquor, appeared before the court and asked permission to withdraw his plea of not guilty, which was granted. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $150 and serve thirty days in jail, with an additional sixty days in jail in case default is made in the payment of the fine.

Radi Perovich withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $150 with thirty days in jail and an additional sixty days in case the fine is not paid. Two other charges against the defendant were dismissed. All were charges for liquor violations.

In the case of the state against Rapch, the defendant withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 and serve 60 days in the county jail, with an additional 90-day jail sentence in default of the payment of the fine.

John Juskovich, charged on an indictment with the sale of liquor, plead guilty and was fined $150 and thirty days in jail, with an additional 60 days in jail if the fine is not paid.

Obrad Dobrovich withdrew his plea of not guilty to the sale of liquor and plead guilty. His fine was $200 and sixty days in jail, with another sixty days if the fine is not paid.

Barney Squires asked permission to change his plea from not guilty to guilty of the sale of liquor. He will be sentenced at nine o'clock Wednesday morning.

The case on trial Monday was that of the state against Wm. Smith of Ironton, charged with the sale of liquor.

The jury on this case is composed of Mrs. A. K. Cohen, Charles Mudgo, C. E. Anderson, Emil Johnson, L. L. Foote, F. E. Fuller, Walter Atwater, Mrs. Harry L. Stearns, Sam T. Hawkins, William Marohn, Victor Hillman and Mrs. Clarence Benest.

"DAD'S DAY" AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Joseph Nicholson of Brainerd Responded Informally for all Dads at Dinner

OVER 1,500 FATHERS PRESENT

Dinner Proved a Glowing Climax to Stirring Events at University on Saturday

"Dad's Day Dinner" proved a glowing climax to the stirring events at the University of Minnesota Saturday and Dr. Joseph Nicholson, Brainerd physician and university graduate, was given the honor of responding informally in behalf of all the dads present. And there were a lot of them present, over 1,500.

Dr. Nicholson's son, Kenneth, is taking a pre-medic course at the University.

nesota. You have staked much on this choice. The University is deeply conscious of its responsibility. It is giving its best efforts to develop in these sons and daughters the sort of body, mind and spirit which is needed to bring pride to the fathers and mothers, and to give permanence to the best ideals of Minnesota's citizenship.

"But education is not alone a matter of books and laboratories and teachers. Influences of all kinds, some good and some bad, are exerting themselves upon students every hour of the day. These influences are only to a small extent under the jurisdiction of the University.

"How students react to these influences depends much upon the character structure built by home conditions, and kept strong by the continuance of home ties during college attendance.

"The faculty and students join me in extending to you a cordial invitation to spend Saturday, Nov. 15th—Dad's Day—with us on the campus, thus renewing the home ties, and for the day at least taking an active part in the University life of your son or daughter."

Dad's Day Program

The program for "Dad's Day" included:

8:30 A. M.—Classes began on main campus. All dads invited to attend.

9:30 A. M.—Registration of dads in Minnesota Union.

12 Noon—Dad's Day luncheon tendered by campus organizations.

12:30 P. M.—Stadium gates open. 2 P. M.—Kickoff—Minnesota vs. Illinois. Official dedication of the new Memorial Stadium immediately after the first half.

4:00 P. M.—Y. M. C. A. open house.

6:00 P. M.—Dad's Day banquet in ballroom of Minnesota Union, followed by reception on first floor.

First Official Recognition.

The Minnesota Daily, the college paper, states in part that "First official recognition of the fathers of University students was tendered to all Minnesota dads on Saturday. Formally and informally they were honored by the observance of the institution's newest tradition, a companion day to the Mothers' Day inaugurated last spring."

Saturday the campus played host to over 1,500 dads who came to visit the institution to which they have sent their sons and daughters. Coming from such far-away points as Spokane and New York city, Minnesota dads expressed their approval of a tradition which gives them this opportunity to come into actual contact with the University.

Practically every sorority and fraternity on the campus planned to honor the visiting dads at luncheons at the noon hour.

Dinner as a Climax.

As a climax to the entire day, the administration tendered the visiting dads a dinner in the ballroom of the Minnesota Union at 6 o'clock in the evening.

President Coffman addressed the gathering informally. Other speakers on the program included Edward E. Nicholson, dean of student affairs; Anna D. Blitz, dean of women; and Dr. Joseph Nicholson of Brainerd, a representative Dad who responded informally in behalf of all the Dads present.

Immediately after the banquet a reception was held.

"It means much to us Daddies," said Dr. Nicholson, "to find our sons' body, mind and spiritual welfare safely looked after. It means much to sit at a banquet table in company with some 1,500 fathers. We have a common interest with you instructors in this great University, to whom we have entrusted attainment of the greatest aim in education making of our sons better and worthwhile citizens."

The doctor paid high tribute to the great institution of learning, its traditions and its ideals, its accomplishments, and the country which has made possible such a university, where rich or poor receive higher education, and where boys and girls, utilizing the advantages so secured, may use such education to become the leaders in the business and professional world.

In behalf of the Daddies he thanked President Coffman for the kind invitation extended to be present at the dinner. "We, the parents of the University students assure you," said Dr. Nicholson in conclusion, "that we appreciate what you are doing for our boys and girls and the interest you have taken in them."

ROTARY GOVERNOR MEETS DISTRICT CONVENTION HEADS

Hibbing, Nov. 17.—Predicting that the ninth Rotary district convention, to be conducted in Hibbing, April 23 and 24, will be one of the biggest in Rotary history, Edward Flynn, St. Paul, district governor, stated that 1,500 members from the two Dakotas, Wisconsin and Minnesota will be present. He spoke at a meeting of convention committee chairmen at the Androy hotel, where a dinner was given in his honor.

Special trains from Duluth, Bismarck, N. D., and St. Paul will bring delegates to Hibbing, Mr. Flynn stated. National and international figures in Rotary will be here, and many clubs will attend in a body.

Some of the features promised for the program are: A pageant showing development of the Mesaba range, from the ore industry to Americanization of the many foreign born residents, which is done through the public schools. Miss Edna Stewart, Miss Elizabeth Casey, and Miss Grace Gardner will be in charge. The cast will include about 200 persons. Graduation of night school classes will take place. Characters in the pageant will appear in native costume. Edward Guest, Michigan poet, will be here and give the principal address at the main banquet of the convention. The Chicago police sextet has been engaged, together with the "Hook-Em-Cows," of St. Paul, a western feature. Miss Nora Fauchald, soloist for Sousa, who sang a year ago at the Rotary convention in Bismarck, will be here.

Many local features will be used for entertainment. The Hibbing Rotary club will present a 25-piece bagpipe band, under direction of Roy Blake.—Duluth News Tribune.

DON'T ALWAYS DROP PEARLS OF WISDOM

Commonplace Ideas Issue From Lips of the Great.

The words of famous personages, addressed to mere ordinary mortals or overheard by them, naturally are remembered, though they are often in themselves comically unworthy of remembrance. Authors and orators, even those who are most impressively capable of what Scott called "doing the big bow-wow" in print or on great occasions, must often descend to small talk—sometimes indeed to talk quite microscopically unimportant. In Mr. Robert Underwood Johnson's book, "Remembered Yesterdays," he relates an interview that his grandmother once had with Henry Clay while they were standing together by chance on the church steps while the congregation were dispersing.

"I understand, Mrs. Underwood," said Mr. Clay, "that you are the mother of seven children."

The lady deprecatingly owned to five or six.

"I want to tell you something very important," said Mr. Clay. "I want to impress on you that when a child has washed his face it is most important that in order to strengthen the sight the eyes should be wiped toward the nose."

A group of young girls standing near the main staircase at a reception attended by Daniel Webster—so one of them related in her old age—saw the great man, with his thunderous brows drawn above his deep-set dark eyes, slowly make his way down from the dressing rooms and speak to his hostess. They listened breathlessly for memorable words.

"Mrs. X," he said, "it is very dim at the turn of the upper hall, and I have just stepped on something there. There were others pressing forward from behind me, and I did not pause; but it must have been, from the sensation I experienced as my foot descended upon it, either a lady's muff or a cat. If it was a cat, I trust its demise will not grieve you deeply."

Fortunately it proved to be only a muff; but half a dozen girls for the rest of their lives could not recall the impressive figure of Webster to mind without seeing a cat under his foot—"like St. George stepping on the squirming dragon in old prints," as the narrator put it.

At her first dinner party, when she was only fifteen years old, an English girl, Louisa Courtenay, who lived well into her nineties, was seated near Wordsworth and next to Southey. She was of course eagerly attentive, awaiting the high discourse of the two poets. Wordsworth ate solemnly and did not talk at all; Southey, too, addressed himself gravely and exclusively to his roast mutton. There was a dish of liver—a kind of water cress—to accompany it; this was set immediately in front of little Miss Courtenay, and after waiting to see whether it was to be passed and finding that it was not she ventured timidly to help herself.

"Young lady," said Southey, "I am glad to see that you appreciate liver. Give me some."

She did so, "and he relapsed into a silence that remained unbroken till the end of the meal."—Youth's Companion.

Modern Lochinvar

Young Lochinvar came out of the West. As he spun along the road he laughed, thinking how astounded the wedding guests would be when he dashed into the church and made off with the bride.

As he entered the street wherein stood the church he noted that it was still early, and he was glad that he had given himself a safe margin in which to perfect his plans. He would leave his car without, hide himself in the church, and then at the right moment spring forward and seize the bride.

But the ceremony ended with the usual kisses and tears, and the bride and groom departed for the station amid the customary shower of shoes and rice, and Lochinvar had not put in an appearance.

A few minutes after the sexton had locked the doors of the church Lochinvar came running up, breathless and perspiring.

He had just found a place to park.—Life.

"Busy" Line Told Secret

In Budapest, as elsewhere, a telephone operator sometimes plugs a call through on an occupied line. Generally one hangs up. But Stephen Koszaka, a high city official in Budapest, didn't, for he was calling his wife, says the Kansas City Star. He was connected while she was speaking with Lieut. Col. Sigmund Valerian, one of the best known Hungarian cavalry officers and a lifelong friend of Koszaka. Through the conversation he learned that the army officer was his wife's lover and that they planned to elope.

Half an hour later Koszaka found Colonel Valerian and killed him. Koszaka gave himself up to the police.

"Talkless Phone" for Deaf

One of the most recent devices for use in communication between deaf mutes is a "talkless phone" that conveys messages by means of an alphabet printed on electric light bulbs. As the operator presses the keys of a special typewriter wired electrically, the corresponding letters are lighted, spelling out the message. The invention is the work of William E. Shaw of Cambridge, Mass., who was stricken deaf and dumb by sickness at an early age.—Popular Science Monthly.

FREAKS OF FASHION ON FIFTH AVENUE

SOME STARTLING EFFECTS ARE SHOWN AT VARIOUS TIMES

PURPLE IS POPULAR, TUNICS ARE NOW IN VOGUE

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the United Press)
(Written for the United Press)

New York, N. Y., Nov. 17.—There is a type of woman in every town whom other women refer to as "upstarts." They are the startlingly dressed creatures who originate their own styles and go the fashion artists of the world one better. Certainly they cannot be called chic, but it cannot be denied that they obtain startling effects.

A fine day on Fifth Avenue brought out numbers of these fair would-be style leaders. Messenger boys follow behind them, grinning from ear to ear, women nudge each other, men snicker and say something smart, but unoriginal about "fool women." Here are a few of the style atrocities encountered in one afternoon:

At 42nd street and Fifth Avenue a young woman wore a purple frock with stockings. She was a picture in purple with no relief. Her frock was a simple tunic model of duvetyne and followed the mode in line and color. Purple is popular this season, tunics are the vogue and short hems the newest word from Paris. Her hat was one of the wide brimmed affairs cut short in back and was made of the popular fuchsia toned purple velvet. Her shoes spoke the latest word—colored satin for street wear. But it is safe to say that no fashion writer offered purple as a satin shoe color for street wear! Stockings to match the shoe is a new note. Purple puts it on the blink, however. By combining certain style elements in a disastrous color tone one becomes a laughing stock.

Another miss wore a tan cloth frock with a circular flare at the hem. She also chose the Parisian short skirt and as she walked one would catch glimpses of her shapely knees. But—to be correct, the very short skirt must be a slender one. Full, circular hems if cut too short make one look like a child at the gawky age. Her small hat was of fan felt and was cut so short in back that the newest job—the V-shaped hairline at the nape of the neck—looked grotesque, for it formed a long, black wisp on her neck. Her handbag was one of the popular enormous sizes and as she was a small girl in an almost knee-length dress, the bag extending beyond the hem-line—seemed like a young suit-case.

An Elderly Flapper

An elderly lady with bobbed hair had chosen the hair-do that looks as though the hair were pasted over the cheeks at the sides. Two gray wisps of hair were brilliantined and held flatly over her withered cheeks. How much better that style looks on a dark-haired young girl! Her shoes were the latest lizard-skin and leather combination of the smart sports type and her short jacquette of leopard skin trimmed with a collar of black monkey fur would have been lovely on a younger person. Pinned on her fur collar was the season's latest whim, the little spray of flowers. Hers were red carnations and, error of errors, her hosiery matched these red carnations. We bow our head in shame as we recall the line "let your hosiery match in color some accessory."

Then came the woman who thought she'd show Fifth Avenue something about waistlines. She was probably some sweet little married woman who cooks her own meals and launders her own underwear, walks to save carfare, etc., but she certainly was out to show the rest of us fair sisters up! Her figure was slender as a reed. And she knew it. Her little black satin frock was scant to the hem and tied just under the armpits was a narrow string belt which would make the Empire waistline ashamed of itself. Two long sash ends hung to the hem of her skirt in front. Her black poke bonnet was as demure as a Puritan's. And—she wore no sleeves or gloves but carried one of those wee little monkey fur muffs which is referred to in Parisian fashion notes. On her satin pumps she wore her monogram in brilliants. Both pumps bore the letter "M." Let's hope her name was Mary! She created quite a stir, at least.

SHEARER'S INJUNCTION HALTS DESTRUCTION OF BATTLESHIP WASHINGTON

William Baldwin Shearer, marine expert, has obtained an injunction restraining Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur from sinking the partly completed battleship Washington. This vessel, which already has cost thirty million dollars, was to have been sunk off the Virginia coast in accordance with the terms of the Disarmament Conference. Shearer insists that the cosigners of the agreement have not lived up to their guarantees, that the U. S. Navy is far below the stipulated ratio and that the destruction of the ship, as well as others partly completed, would be a wanton waste of public funds. Secretary Wilbur must appear in the New York Supreme Court to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

Her frock was a simple tunic model of duvetyne and followed the mode in line and color. Purple is popular this season, tunics are the vogue and short hems the newest word from Paris. Her hat was one of the wide brimmed affairs cut short in back and was made of the popular fushia toned purple velvet. Her shoes spoke the latest word—colored satin for street wear. But it is safe to say that no fashion writer offered purple as a satin shoe color for street wear! Stockings to match the shoe is a new note. Purple puts it on the blink, however. By combining certain style elements in a disastrous color tone one becomes a laughing stock.

Another miss wore a tan cloth frock with a circular flare at the hem. She also chose the Parisian short skirt and as she walked one would catch glimpses of her shapely knees. But—to be correct, the very short skirt must be a slender one. Full, circular hems if cut too short make one look like a child at the gawky age. Her small hat was of fan felt and was cut so short in back that the newest job—the V-shaped hairline at the nape of the neck—looked grotesque, for it formed a long, black wisp on her neck. Her handbag was one of the popular enormous sizes and as she was a small girl in an almost knee-length dress, the bag extending beyond the hem-line—seemed like a young suit-case.

An Elderly Flapper

An elderly lady with bobbed hair had chosen the hair-do that looks as though the hair were pasted over the cheeks at the sides. Two gray wisps of hair were brilliantined and held flatly over her withered cheeks. How much better that style looks on a dark-haired young girl! Her shoes were the latest lizard-skin and leather combination of the smart sports type and her short jacquette of leopard skin trimmed with a collar of black monkey fur would have been lovely on a younger person. Pinned on her fur collar was the season's latest whim, the little spray of flowers. Hers were red carnations and, error of errors, her hosiery matched these red carnations. We bow our head in shame as we recall the line "let your hosiery match in color some accessory."

Then came the woman who thought she'd show Fifth Avenue something about waistslines. She was probably some sweet little married woman who cooks her own meals and launders her own underwear, walks to save carfare, etc., but she certainly was out to show the rest of us fair sisters up! Her figure was slender as a reed. And she knew it. Her little black satin frock was scant to the hem and tied just under the armpits was a narrow string belt which would make the Empire waistline ashamed of itself. Two long sash ends hung to the hem of her skirt in front. Her black poke bonnet was as demure as a Puritan's. And—she wore no sleeves or gloves but carried one of those wee little monkey fur muffs which is referred to in Parisian fashion notes! On her satin pumps she wore her monogram in brilliants. Both pumps bore the letter "M." Let's hope her name was Mary! She created quite a stir, at least.

SHEARER'S INJUNCTION HALTS DESTRUCTION OF BATTLESHIP WASHINGTON

William Baldwin Shearer, marine expert, has obtained an injunction restraining Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur from sinking the partly completed battleship Washington. This vessel, which already has cost thirty million dollars, was to have been sunk off the Virginia coast in accordance with the terms of the Disarmament Conference. Shearer insists that the cosigners of the agreement have not lived up to their guarantees, that the U. S. Navy is far below the stipulated ratio and that the destruction of the ship, as well as others partly completed, would be a waste of public funds. Secretary Wilbur must appear in the New York Supreme Court to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent.

A PIMPLY SKIN

NEEDS SULPHUR

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Menthosulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Menthosulphur and use it like cold cream.—Advt.

SEVENTY YEARS YOUNG

To be born in 1854, makes the average man 70 years old. But with Con O'Brien's it's different. He is 70 years young, on November 24, has a better head of hair than many Brainerd kids of 30, does twice as much work as any average young man, gets to work before the rest of the store help, keeps supervision of mercantile affairs in retail and wholesale fields and does a tremendous amount of business, has a speaking acquaintance with the whole of Crow Wing county, Central Minnesota and the rest of the Northwest, and in a quiet, unostentatious manner has helped many a citizen in various ways.

Con's birthdays are made impressive by a party he gives at his home and invitations are more eagerly sought than to a White House dinner. Col. C. D. Johnson got out the invitations this year and they are most impressive ones. The typography and the subject matter of the invitation are rarely Johnsonesque.

As the boys get together, they recall stirring events of preceding birthday celebrations and one of the funniest incidents is related about Jim Elder, who was a regular visitant and partaker of real Irish hospitality until death called him away.

The ancient Spaniards sent expeditions to the comparatively unknown western world looking for a fountain or drug store where perpetual youth was for sale. But Con O'Brien needs no such expeditions. He is the living embodiment of perpetual youth, kindness and good cheer and John D. Rockefeller would give millions if he had Con's method to get the best of Father Time.

ANOTHER DEPARTMENT CUTS EXPENSES

It is with supreme satisfaction that the taxpayers note how expenses are being cut down in various departments of the government. In a recent report made, the War department reduced expenses $181,768 during the last fiscal year through prompt payment of its bills.

At the close of the year, said Brigadier General Kenzie W. Walker, chief of finance, in his annual report to Secretary Weeks, the department had only 262 outstanding unpaid bills more than thirty days old, but these could not be paid because of unsettled questions. General Walker viewed the situation as showing the army substantially on a "cash basis," the result being that 99 per cent of possible commercial discounts on army purchases were collected.

It shows that "more business in government" and "less government in business" is working admirably. In days past, departments let bills accumulate and such a thing as a cash discount was seldom thought of and less often put in practice.

GIRL SCOUTS' BUILDING PLANS

WITH the Girl Scout half million dollar building and budget campaign barely launched, workers all over the country are encouraged by four large gifts contributed on the first day of the drive last Friday.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gave $25,000 and as soon as $476,028 has come in he will contribute another $25,000. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenwald of Chicago have contributed $11,000; Mrs. Nicholas F. Brady and Mrs. V. Everit Macy, both of New York city, have each given $25,000. This makes a total of $86,000.

Under the leadership of Mary Roberts Rinehart, national chairman, the country has been divided into twelve regions, with a chairman for each. Money is being raised by the sale of building bricks at $10 each. New York city has challenged the rest of the country on a two to one basis, agreeing to sell twice as many bricks as are sold elsewhere.

THE KNUTE NELSON MEMORIAL

It is a pleasure, says the St. Paul Daily News editorially, to support the movement to raise funds for the erection of a memorial to the late Senator Knute Nelson on the state capitol ground.

The opportunity is given to pay a deserved honor to one of Minnesota's greatest citizens. We heartily agree with the committee in charge of raising the funds that "Knute Nelson is removed from the field of partisan politics. His memory is the common heritage of all Americans. Men and women of all parties have an equal right to do him honor, an opportunity to express their remembrance of the man who so nobly served his country."

To kill a deer or bear yields two great sources of satisfaction. There is first, the killing of the animal in which the hunter gluts over his spoils like the caveman of the old days. And then there is the delight of telling your hunting yarn. Constant repetition of the story results in agreeable additions and a polished story is the result, which sometimes takes a course directly contrary to truth in the first instance. Some of our best hunting story tellers are the poorest shots. One man has been bragging about his bags of ducks and another hunter claims he hasn't shot a duck for five years, and in spite of this every one of his "ducks" weighs 8½ pounds.

A BERLIN authority says cats like music. They certainly believe in voice culture and keep lots of folks awake at night. We have a cat which delights to run scales by walking up and down our piano keys.

"WHAT," asks the Literary Digest, "has become of the 'Man-in-the-Street' who used to do so much talking?" Probably he got married, says the New York American sententiously.

THE other day a woman became suspicious as to where her husband spent his evenings, and so she stayed at home and found him there.

Sudan Grass Quite Valuable Hay Crop

Easily Grown and Is Relished by All Farm Stock.

Any farmer who wants an easy-to-grow, good-yielding hay crop that is relished by practically all forms of live stock will do well to plant at least a small acreage of Sudan grass and to become acquainted with its habits and its valuable quality, thinks C. P. Blackwell, agronomist at Clemson college.

Sudan grass, Professor Blackwell explains, is closely related to the cultivated sorghums and is a comparatively new forage crop in this country. It was introduced into the United States in 1900. In appearance it is taller, has broader leaves and is entirely without the underground stems which make Johnson grass such a bad weed on farm lands. It grows to a height of 3 to 5 feet if seeded broadcast, and taller than this if planted in cultivated rows. It is generally seeded broadcast when grown for hay production. It makes a large yield of hay, the yield varying with the fertility of the land and the fertilizer used, and ranging from one to eight tons of cured hay per acre. The quality of this hay is about the same as that of Johnson grass or Timothy. Practically all forms of live stock relish it and do well on it. It is easily cut and is not difficult to keep and handle.

When sown broadcast for hay, about 30 pounds of seed per acre should be used. When planted in rows, the rows may be anywhere from 20 to 40 inches apart and 6 to 10 pounds of seed per acre will be sufficient for planting. If planted early in the season, several cuttings may be secured in one year.

Secure Herd Bull When Demand Has Slackened

Most farmers who buy herd sires wait until they need one and then rush out and get the first one they can lay hands on. And in this case, following the crowd is the worst possible procedure. The successful breeder selects his herd sire when the demand is lightest, and gets a better bull at a lower price, says Professor H. A. Hooper of the state college of agriculture at Ithaca.

Forehanded men neither patch their roofs when it is raining nor buy herd bulls when everyone else is doing the same thing. If a man needs a sire next spring, right now is an excellent time to start looking for him, says Professor Hooper. The eternal law of supply and demand works as well in regard to bulls as it does with any other commodity, he says, and the time to catch bears is when they are out; not when everyone else is bear-hunting.

"So," says Professor Hooper, "if a herd of cattle is worth having, it's worth a little time and trouble spent in looking up its most important single unit, and the man who is wise gets his herd sire all lined up while the other fellow is putting it off till he isn't so busy."

Grow Supplemental Feed in Hogging Down Crops

When corn is to be hogged down it is always advisable to grow some supplemental food along with the corn. Soy beans and velvet beans are good crops for this purpose. In the case of corn and soy beans the hogs will balance their ration fairly well, but in the case of velvet beans, the hogs may eat the corn first and leave the beans alone to be grazed later. In this case some of the corn may be gathered and fed to the hogs later. If the hogs are given free access to a mineral mixture, feeding value will be added to these crops. It is possible to arrange forage crops so that hogs may be turned on the fields for a period of time and turned out later ready for the market without having been hand-fed a single day during the entire finishing period.

Farm Hints

Save toll and time by using your head.

It pays to fatten up your poultry for a week or ten days before shipping to market.

When buying seed don't let two or three cents difference in prices blind you into sacrificing quality for quantity.

The silo preserves the whole crop, stalks, leaves and grain, whether corn, kafir or sorghum, so that there is scarcely any loss.

A piece of carpet spread over the bias of potatoes will keep the light from the windows from striking them and turning them green.

In buying a pure-bred bull for grading up a herd, remember that the pedigree in itself is not a guarantee that a bull is what he should be. There are poor as well as good pedigreed animals.

The four essentials of a bumper crop are good seed, rich soil, scientific tillage, and favorable weather. All of these—even the latter—are more or less under the control of the farmer, for by filling his soil with humus, he can lessen the damage by too much or too little rain.

Love of "Bush" Strong in Average Australian

All true Australians refer to the country districts of their land as the bush. They prefer it to the more sophisticated expression "the country." The dictionary definition is "a thick shrub," and that is all the word conveys to most people. To an Australian it means more than almost any word in his vocabulary, a writer in the Youth's Companion asserts.

It will conjure up for him a vision of a wide tract of land covered with brushwood—sandalwood, star bush gleaming with white blossoms, saffron wattle and feathery may—stretching away unevenly till it meets the edge of the dome of the sky. The sky always seems so much more vast in Australia than in other lands, and the stars so much bigger!

If he comes from the scrub country, the bush will mean to him forests of thin brittle-branched mulga or tangled thicket, the whole trunk of a giant eucalyptus standing strongly among it here and there and the gay colored cockatoos calling shrilly overhead. If the plains of New South Wales are his home, he will recall a day when he rode alone for many hours across the red plain, only checking his horse while he opened the gates in the barbed-wire fences with his boot, till the low roofs of the homestead came into sight and he saw the green fringe of the willows by the deep-banked river.

The Queenslander will think of a night that he spent camping among colossal red gum trees, when he slept on a bed of sweet-smelling branches and heard the howl of the dingoes, his horse hobbled near by, and the last flames of the fire lighting up the tree trunks and making the leaves far overhead quiver.

To each one it will stand for something different, for the area of Australia is nearly 3,000,000 miles, and the bush stretches from the orchard and dairy lands around the coast to the unsearched deserts of the center.—Christian Science Monitor.

City to Honor Jenny Lind

A full-length statue of Jenny Lind is soon to be erected by the Jenny Lind association in Battery park, near the Aquarium, formerly Castle Garden, scene of the first American appearance of the famous Swedish singer. The monument, according to present plans of the association, will be dedicated on October 6, 1925, which date will be the one hundred and fifth birthday of the singer, and will fall less than a month after the seventy-fifth anniversary of her first appearance in America, on September 11, 1850.

Jenny Lind is the second woman to be honored by a public statue in the city of New York, and the sixth musician to be thus commemorated in the American metropolis. The only other public monument to a woman, excepting the busts in the Hall of Fame, is the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc on Riverside drive. The other musicians to whom statues have been erected in the city are Beethoven, who is honored by two pedestaled busts—one on the Mall in Central park and the other in Prospect park in Brooklyn; Mozart, von Weber and Grieg, each with a bust in the flower garden of Prospect park, and Verdi, with a heroic monument in a square of upper Broadway.

Real Heroine

They are mighty liberal down at Venice in the way of costume display, or rather the display that comes from lack of costume, but once in awhile the officer on duty does come to the front when he finds that the tide is afraid to come in.

But the other day, this intrepid protector of masculine eyesight walked right into a lot of trouble.

"Your tights are too high. Drop 'em a little lower."

He was addressing a heavyweight flapper, about 200 pounds net.

"How would you like to mind your own business?" the super-flapper asked petulantly. "There's nothing for you to worry about, is there? If there's anyone to be ashamed, it's me, not you. Isn't it?"

And then she waddled off. Censoring beaches isn't as simple as it looks.—Los Angeles Times.

Yes, It Really Happened

That the age of chivalry has not passed is quite well proved by an incident involving a conductor on a Jefferson avenue car, an elderly woman and the elderly woman's handkerchief. The woman boarded the car and, in doing so, dropped her handkerchief on the pavement. With perfect grace the conductor stepped from his post into the street, picked up the handkerchief, returned it to the grateful loser and buzzed his signal for full speed ahead. "And she wasn't young or handsome, either!" ejaculated an observer, who decided immediately that the incident was beyond comprehension. In this age.—Detroit News.

Makes Radio Sending Easy

Forest rangers in the state of Washington have discovered that by using the branches of trees instead of the customary wire antenna they can send radio messages over a distance of two or three miles. All they have to do is to drive a copper nail into the trunk of a tree, connect the sending instrument with it and begin to send. Experiments are now in progress to increase the efficiency of the contrivance, which should prove of great service in enabling rangers to keep in touch with their stations and with one another.—Youth's Companion.

Milton Sills as a galley slave in "The Sea Hawk"

Picture Cost Near a Million

Continuing its policy of presenting to the local picturegoers the biggest of cinematic productions, the New Park presents for the first time Frank Lloyd's First National Picture, "The Sea Hawk" tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday, adapted from the best seller by Rafael Sabatini, author of "Scaramouche," and regarded by critics and producers as the greatest sea story ever brought to the silver sheet.

Dealing with a spectacular romance and the piracy of the late Sixteenth Century English, Spanish and Moors, "The Sea Hawk" is reputed to possess an extraordinary amount of thrilling incidents, red blooded action and tender romance amid many quaint and massive settings and in the hands of the producer of "Ashes of Vengeance," "Les Miserables," "Black Oxen" and "Madame X," the Sabatini narrative is said to have lost none of its highly entertaining drama but rather to have been greatly enhanced in its adaptation to the screen.

Record Hailstones

The maximum possible size of hailstones cannot be positively stated, but stones larger than a man's fist and weighing more than a pound have several times been reported. During a hailstorm in Natal, on April 17, 1874, stones fell that weighed one and one-half pounds. Hailstones 14 inches in circumference fell in New South Wales in February, 1847.

Defy Approach of Age

Robert Louis Stevenson gives good advice when he says: "Cling to your youth; it is an artist's stock in trade; do not give up that you are aging and you won't age."

Needed Compass Change

The United States Geological survey says that a compass should be changed about one degree every 20 years. This change is necessary, as the magnetic pole toward which the needle of a compass points and the North pole are not the same. The magnetic pole shifts, and therefore the change must be made in the compass to make up for the shift of the magnetic pole.

New High Gasoline Consumption Record

THE Bureau of Mines (Washington, D.C.) places the domestic consumption of gasoline for August, 1924, at 819,467,892 gallons, an increase over July consumption of 22,001,302 gallons and the highest monthly consumption of gasoline ever reached in the United States.

Notwithstanding this unusual demand, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been able to keep the motorist of the Middle West constantly supplied with gasoline. This is the direct result of strict economy in production and the uninterrupted operation of a modern system of distribution.

The new high gasoline consumption record of August tells of hundreds of small business organizations made efficient by means of the automobile and an abundance of standard quality gasoline. It tells of thousands of families who have enjoyed healthful outings at minimum cost. It tells of hundreds of thousands of city children benefited by country air, because motor transportation carried them into open spaces at a trifling charge.

Giving people what they want, at a price they easily can afford to pay, is in itself a valuable service. This service is rendered to society by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Few of the hundreds of thousands of people who profit daily by the abundance and the wide distribution of gasoline, consider the intricate industrial problems solved before this service could be rendered. They are apt to think of gasoline as yielded freely by nature; a generous, unceasing gift to man.

On the contrary, no matter how freely crude oil is produced by nature, without the aid of science it does not yield the tremendous quantities of gasoline needed to supply the demand.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by originating processes which vastly increase the percentage of gasoline recovered from crude oil, serves mankind by helping to keep the supply equal to the demand. By devising a comprehensive distribution system and maintaining it in the face of every obstacle, this Company is able to make gasoline available to millions who could not afford to have the fuel shipped to them individually. Gasoline is as accessible to the farmers of the Middle West as it is to the city dweller.

Tom Terriss Film of Spanish Adventure, Scores Hit at Lyceum

Tom Terriss not only has been considered one of the outstanding directors of the motion picture field for some time, but also he has been more or less noted for two particular attributes. One of them is his eagerness to develop new players; the other is his love for taking a company to authentic locations in distant parts of the world to get real atmosphere in his productions.

"The Bandolero" ("The Bandit"), which came to the Lyceum Theatre for a two days engagement yesterday, is an excellent example of both of Mr. Terriss' theories.

"High Speed" Coming to Lyceum

Herbert Rawlinson returns to the Lyceum Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday in an entirely new vehicle, "High Speed," directed by Herbert Blache. The story deals with an athletic young man who outwits an irate father and wins the girl of his heart, after many gripping adventures. Carmelita Geraghty, the new film find, plays the girl. Bert Roach, Jules Cowles, J. Buckley Russell and Otto Hoffman are in the cast.

Love of "Bush" Strong in Average Australian

All true Australians refer to the country districts of their land as the bush. They prefer it to the more sophisticated expression "the country." The dictionary definition is "a thick shrub," and that is all the word conveys to most people. To an Australian it means more than almost any word in his vocabulary, a writer in the Youth's Companion asserts.

It will conjure up for him a vision of a wide tract of land covered with brushwood—sandalwood, star bush gleaming with white blossoms, saffron wattle and feathery may—stretching away unevenly till it meets the edge of the dome of the sky. The sky always seems so much more vast in Australia than in other lands, and the stars so much bigger!

If he comes from the scrub country, the bush will mean to him forests of thin brittle-branched mulga or tangled tittree, the whole trunk of a giant eucalyptus standing strongly among it here and there and the gay colored cockatoos calling shrilly overhead. If the plains of New South Wales are his home, he will recall a day when he rode alone for many hours across the red plain, only checking his horse while he opened the gates in the barbed-wire fences with his boot, till the low roofs of the homestead came into sight and he saw the green fringe of the willows by the deep-banked river.

The Queenslander will think of a night that he spent camping among colossal red gum trees, when he slept on a bed of sweet-smelling branches and heard the howl of the dingos, his horse hobbled near by, and the last flames of the fire lighting up the tree trunks and making the leaves far overhead quiver.

To each one it will stand for something different, for the area of Australia is nearly 3,000,000 miles, and the bush stretches from the orchard and dairy lands around the coast to the unsearched deserts of the center.—Christian Science Monitor.

City to Honor Jenny Lind

A full-length statue of Jenny Lind is soon to be erected by the Jenny Lind association in Battery park, near the Aquarium, formerly Castle Garden, scene of the first American appearance of the famous Swedish singer. The monument, according to present plans of the association, will be dedicated on October 6, 1925, which date will be the one hundred and fifth birthday of the singer, and will fall less than a month after the seventy-fifth anniversary of her first appearance in America, on September 11, 1850.

Jenny Lind is the second woman to be honored by a public statue in the city of New York, and the sixth musician to be thus commemorated in the American metropolis. The only other public monument to a woman, excepting the busts in the Hall of Fame, is the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc on Riverside drive. The other musicians to whom statues have been erected in the city are Beethoven, who is honored by two pedestaled busts—one on the Mall in Central park and the other in Prospect park in Brooklyn; Mozart, von Weber and Grieg, each with a bust in the flower garden of Prospect park, and Verdi, with a heroic monument in a square of upper Broadway.

Real Heroine

They are mighty liberal down at Venice in the way of costume display, or rather the display that comes from lack of costume, but once in awhile the officer on duty does come to the front when he finds that the tide is afraid to come in.

But the other day, this intrepid protector of masculine eyesight walked right into a lot of trouble.

"Your tights are too high. Drop 'em a little lower."

He was addressing a heavyweight flapper, about 200 pounds net.

"How would you like to mind your own business?" the super-flapper asked petulantly. "There's nothing for you to worry about, is there? If there's anyone to be ashamed, it's me, not you, isn't it?"

And then she waddled off. Censoring beaches isn't as simple as it looks.—Los Angeles Times.

BAND OF 100 DEFIES CLOSING OF DAM GATES

INYO COUNTY PEOPLE RESENT
LOS ANGELES ENCROACHMENT
ON WATER SUPPLY

RAIDERS DIVERT WATER TO VIR-TUALLY DRY OWENS
RIVER

(By United Press)
Lone Pine, Inyo County, Calif., Nov. 17.—A band of 100 men from the Owens River valley today defied Los Angeles guards and Inyo county authorities to close the waste gates of the Los Angeles aqueduct, which they raided and opened last night.

The demonstration, officials said, was in protest against the alleged encroachment of Los Angeles on the valley's water supply.

The raiders, by opening the gates, diverted the flow of water from Los Angeles to the virtually dry Owens River, which previously had irrigated the valley farms.

Inyo county officials today renewed their appeal to Governor F. W. W. Richardson for state troops to aid in closing the gates.

Los Angeles is in no immediate danger of a water shortage, officials said. Reservoirs between the raided gates and the city contain a 90-days' supply, they said.

SUIT FILED TO SELL HILL HOME

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—A suit to force the sale of the James J. Hill home, 240 Summit avenue, will be filed within the next few days.

This was admitted today by attorneys representing one of the heirs to the Hill estate.

The home is valued at about $200,000.

At present, each of the Hill heirs owns an undivided interest in the home, while the building stands empty. By selling it, they will each receive a share of the price.

The heir who has a suit ready to file is Mrs. Ruth Hill Beard of New York. Filing of the action automatically will bring all of the other heirs into court over the matter, and anyone of them may bid in the house if it is ordered sold.

Since the death of Mrs. James J. Hill several plans for disposal of the home have been before the heirs, one of which was its donation for a museum, but they have been unable to agree.

The attorneys for Mrs. Beard are Sanborn, Graves & Ordway.

CREMAIC POISONING ATTACKS MRS. HARDING

(By United Press)
Marion, O., Nov. 17.—Cremaic poisoning has further complicated the case of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, ill at White Oaks farm near here, it was said early today.

This in addition to the heart attacks which she has suffered periodically has caused her to lose strength steadily since the latter part of last week.

For the last 48 hours she has felt drowsy and has taken very little nourishment, leading to the fear that she is slowly slipping into a coma.

After two unfavorable statements Sunday, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, Mrs. Harding's physician, issued a bulletin at midnight saying that she had slept comfortably up to that hour.

At 9:30 a. m. Dr. Sawyer issued the following bulletin:

"Mrs. Harding rested quietly last night. This morning she is very weak and exhausted. The kidney and liver complications are more marked. She is able to take very little nourishment."

FINANCIAL ROMANCE OF WORLD WAR ENDS IN TRAGEDY

(By United Press)
London, Nov. 17.—The suicide here of John Q. Rowett, backer of the last Shackleton expedition to the South Pole, has ended one of the great financial romances of the war.

Rowett in 1914 was a dealer in rum in a fairly modest way. He wrote an order for six casks of it. A clerk in a wholesale office, misreading the order, made it six cargoes.

A month or two before the outbreak of the war, Rowett began to be deluged with rum. Thousands of casks came from all corners of the earth. Always a simple, straightforward man, Rowett threatened suicide rather than be thought dishonest when the bills came in.

Then the war started. Great Britain began raising an army that was to include altogether about 8,000,000 men. Regulations provided a daily ration of rum for each man. Rowett was the only man in the world who could furnish rum in sufficient quantities and he obtained contracts to supply both the army and navy throughout the war.

The deluge of rum became a deluge of gold, and Rowett emerged a multimillionaire. He did not know what to do with the money. He made lavish gifts to all sorts of charities and endowed universities. One day he met Sir Ernest Shackleton on the street. They had been at school together.

"You're Shackleton, aren't you?" Rowett asked. "I hear you want to go to the South Pole again."

Shackleton said he did. "I'll furnish the money," Rowett replied. It cost him $500,000.

Shackleton died during his voyage, Rowett believed himself partly responsible. Sir John Stewart, great whiskey dealer and a friend of Rowett's, shot himself, unable to meet liabilities of nearly $10,000,000. Of this he owed $500,000. Rowett thought this might have had something to do with the suicide.

Some investments went bad and Rowett became afraid that he might not be able to meet all his bills. His bankers assured him that he had plenty of money, but Rowett went home despondent, and was found in the library of his palatial home, hanging dead by a sash cord.

Though a verdict of suicide was returned, Rowett's doctor testified he was convinced Rowett was merely rehearsing a suicide in case he went bankrupt.

Father of Wealthy Rhinelander's Bride Calls Self Colored

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 17.—A furor having been aroused in New York society circles by announcement of the secret wedding on Oct. 14 of Leonard Kip Rhinelander and Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of a New Rochelle taxi driver, records were produced at the city clerk's office to determine whether the bride had grounds for libel suits with which she threatened newspapers.

Declaring emphatically that she and her father were "white as anyone," young Mrs. Rhinelander said she would sue newspapers which had printed intimations to the contrary. Records showed today that when Mrs. Rhinelander's sister, Emily Jones, married Robert D. Brooks of New Rochelle on March 1, 1915, both parties declared themselves "colored."

Delving back further, it was declared that when the bride's father, George Jones, obtained his first citizenship papers in 1895, he described himself under oath as a "colored man."

Young Rhinelander and his bride were not at home today.

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE AND ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON

In the District Court of the United States, for the Fifth Division, District of Minnesota.

In the matter of Benjamin Hoffman, as an individual, and also doing business as Brainerd Tailoring and Shoe Repair Shop, Bankrupt No. 2757, in Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable William A. Cant' Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota:

Benjamin Hoffman, as an individual, and also doing business as Brainerd Tailoring and Shoe Repair Shop, of Brainerd, in the County of Crow Wing, and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 23rd day of August, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 11th day of November, A. D. 1924.

BENJAMIN HOFFMAN, as an individual, and also doing business as Brainerd Tailoring and Shoe Repair Shop, Bankrupt.

Order of Notice

District of Minnesota, ss.: On this 15th day of November, A. D. 1924, on reading the Petition for Discharge of the above-named Bankrupt, it is—

ORDERED By the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 27th day of December, A. D. 1924, before the said court, at Duluth, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Brainerd Dispatch, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court, that the clerk shall send, by mail, to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

WITNESS The Honorable William A. Cant' Judge of the said court, and the seal thereof, at Duluth, in said district, on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1924.

VETERAN APPEALED TO SUPREME COURT

CANNOT SUE U. S. WHERE WITH-
HOLDING COMPENSATION IS NOT ARBITRARY

Washington, Nov. 17.—The United States supreme court today ruled that an ex-service man cannot sue the United States to recover compensation, where the withholding of compensation does not appear arbitrary or unreasonable.

The action was begun by Sam Silberschein, a war veteran, in the federal district court for the eastern district of Michigan, to recover from the United States a rate of compensation he believed due him. The government opposed the suit on the ground that the director of the Veterans Bureau is the sole arbiter under the acts of congress contemplating justice.

The lower courts sustained this view and dismissed the suit.

Electricity on Submarines

The electric storage battery is the thing that has made the submarine possible. When these under-sea boats are cruising on the surface of the water they are driven by steam or gas engines but when they dive toward Davy Jones' locker the engines are stopped and electric motors using energy drawn from the storage batteries keep the propellers whirling. When back on the surface the engines also drive electric dynamos which recharge the storage batteries. On board the U. S. S. V-1, recently launched at the Portsmouth (N. H.) navy yard, practically all of the work is done electrically save propelling the ship when surface cruising.

3 AMENDMENTS OF STATE PASSED

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—Three of the five proposed amendments to the state constitution have passed, according to unofficial compilations, with only a few precincts throughout the state missing.

These three are the gas tax amendment, the reforestation amendment, and the forest fire fighting amendment. Those defeated are the charter publication amendment and the one providing for the building by the state of terminal grain elevators.

The vote totals to date are:
No. 1, gas tax, year, 510,702; no, 193,559.

No. 2, charter amendment, yes, 226,404; no, 209,282.

No. 3, terminal elevator, yes, 252,472; no, 251,913.

No. 4, reforestation, yes, 419,025; no, 139,104.

No. 5, forest fire, yes, 446,115; no, 140,038.

To carry each amendment must have a majority of the vote cast at the election. The total state vote is expected to be about 817,000, making the number of votes necessary to pass an amendment 408,500.

HISTORIC RING NOW IN VERSAILLES MUSEUM

(By United Press)
Paris, Nov. 17.—Houdon Museum, at Versailles, has been enriched by a historical ring the gift of Georges Clemenceau. It is a simple gold monogram ring and originally belonged to Jules Favre. When Favre and Bismarck met on January 28, 1871, to sign an armistice after the Franco-German war, it was necessary that proper seals be attached to the document. They were at Versailles, and the proper French seals were in Paris. Bismarck objected to the delay necessary to get the seals, so Favre used this ring to stamp the documents.

Exactly forty-eight years and five months later M. Clemenceau, prime minister of France and president of the peace conference, wore this ring when he entered the Gallery of Mirrors in Versailles to tell the Germans where to sign. The ring will be preserved with a sacred collection, which includes the pen that signed the treaty for France and the inkstand used on that historical occasion.

Buick Continues its Leadership

For the seventh consecutive year Buick has first choice of space at the National Automobile Shows. This signal honor is awarded annually by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce to the manufacturer-member having the largest volume of business for the preceding twelve months.

In winning and in maintaining this enviable position year after year, Buick has demonstrated conclusively that the true value of any automobile is reflected in the consistency with which the public buys it.

Since the introduction of the 1925 Buick models, public patronage has increased to an even greater degree—

A tribute to the Buick engineering skill and manufacturing ability that have provided newer and better Buick cars without departing in any way from the fundamentals of power, economy and dependability for which all Buicks have been famous.

BAND OF 100 DEFIES CLOSING OF DAM GATES

INYO COUNTY PEOPLE RESENT
LOS ANGELES ENCROACHMENT
ON WATER SUPPLY

RAIDERS DIVERT WATER TO VIR-TUALLY DRY OWENS
RIVER

(By United Press)
Lone Pine, Inyo County, Calif., Nov. 17.—A band of 100 men from the Owens River valley today defied Los Angeles guards and Inyo county authorities to close the waste gates of the Los Angeles aqueduct, which they raided and opened last night.

The demonstration, officials said, was in protest against the alleged encroachment of Los Angeles on the valley's water supply.

The raiders, by opening the gates, diverted the flow of water from Los Angeles to the virtually dry Owens River, which previously had irrigated the valley farms.

Inyo county officials today renewed their appeal to Governor F. W. W. Richardson for state troops to aid in closing the gates.

Los Angeles is in no immediate danger of a water shortage, officials said. Reservoirs between the raided gates and the city contain a 90-days' supply, they said.

SUIT FILED TO SELL HILL HOME

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—A suit to force the sale of the James J. Hill home, 240 Summit avenue, will be filed within the next few days.

This was admitted today by attorneys representing one of the heirs to the Hill estate.

The home is valued at about $200,000.

At present, each of the Hill heirs owns an undivided interest in the home, while the building stands empty. By selling it, they will each receive a share of the price.

The heir who has a suit ready to file is Mrs. Ruth Hill Beard of New York. Filing of the action automatically will bring all of the other heirs into court over the matter, and anyone of them may bid in the house if it is ordered sold.

Since the death of Mrs. James J. Hill several plans for disposal of the home have been before the heirs, one of which was its donation for a museum, but they have been unable to agree.

The attorneys for Mrs. Beard are Sanborn, Graves & Ordway.

CREMAIC POISONING ATTACKS MRS. HARDING

(By United Press)
Marion, O., Nov. 17.—Cremaic poisoning has further complicated the case of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, ill at White Oaks farm near here, it was said early today.

This in addition to the heart attacks which she has suffered periodically has caused her to lose strength steadily since the latter part of last week.

For the last 48 hours she has felt drowsy and has taken very little nourishment, leading to the fear that she is slowly slipping into a coma.

After two unfavorable statements Sunday, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, Mrs. Harding's physician, issued a bulletin at midnight saying that she had slept comfortably up to that hour.

At 9:30 a. m. Dr. Sawyer issued the following bulletin:

"Mrs. Harding rested quietly last night. This morning she is very weak and exhausted. The kidney and liver complications are more marked. She is able to take very little nourishment."

FINANCIAL ROMANCE OF WORLD WAR ENDS IN TRAGEDY

(By United Press)
London, Nov. 17.—The suicide here of John Q. Rowett, backer of the last Shackleton expedition to the South Pole, has ended one of the great financial romances of the war.

Rowett in 1914 was a dealer in rum in a fairly modest way. He wrote an order for six casks of it. A clerk in a wholesale office, misreading the order, made it six cargoes.

A month or two before the outbreak of the war, Rowett began to be deluged with rum. Thousands of casks came from all corners of the earth. Always a simple, straightforward man, Rowett threatened suicide rather than be thought dishonest when the bills came in.

Then the war started. Great Britain began raising an army that was to include altogether about 8,000,000 men. Regulations provided a daily ration of rum for each man. Rowett was the only man in the world who could furnish rum in sufficient quantities, and he obtained contracts to supply both the army and navy throughout the war.

The deluge of rum became a deluge of gold, and Rowett emerged a multimillionaire. He did not know what to do with the money. He made lavish gifts to all sorts of charities and endowed universities. One day he met Sir Ernest Shackleton on the street. They had been at school together.

"You're Shackleton, aren't you?" Rowett asked. "I hear you want to go to the South Pole again."

Shackleton said he did.

"I'll furnish the money," Rowett replied. It cost him $500,000.

Shackleton died during his voyage. Rowett believed himself partly responsible. Sir John Stewart, great whiskey dealer and a friend of Rowett's, shot himself, unable to meet liabilities of nearly $10,000,000. Of this he owed $500,000. Rowett thought this might have had something to do with the suicide.

Some investments went bad and Rowett became afraid that he might not be able to meet all his bills. His bankers assured him that he had plenty of money, but Rowett went home despondent, and was found in the library of his palatial home, hanging dead by a sash cord.

Though a verdict of suicide was returned, Rowett's doctor testified he was convinced Rowett was merely rehearsing a suicide in case he went bankrupt.

Father of Wealthy Rhinelander's Bride Calls Self Colored

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 17.—A furor having been aroused in New York society circles by announcement of the secret wedding on Oct. 14 of Leonard Kip Rhinelander and Alice Beatrice Jones, daughter of a New Rochelle taxi driver, records were produced at the city clerk's office to determine whether the bride had grounds for libel suits with which she threatened newspapers.

Declaring emphatically that she and her father were "white as anyone," young Mrs. Rhinelander said she would sue newspapers which had printed intimations to the contrary.

Records showed today that when Mrs. Rhinelander's sister, Emily Jones, married Robert D. Brooks of New Rochelle on March 1, 1915, both parties declared themselves "colored."

Delving back further, it was declared that when the bride's father, George Jones, obtained his first citizenship papers in 1895, he described himself under oath as a "colored man."

Young Rhinelander and his bride were not at home today.

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DIS- CHARGE AND ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON

In the District Court of the United States, for the Fifth Division, District of Minnesota.

In the matter of Benjamin Hoffman, as an individual, and also doing business as Brainerd Tailoring and Shoe Repair Shop, Bankrupt No. 2757, in Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Minnesota.

Benjamin Hoffman, as an individual, and also doing business as Brainerd Tailoring and Shoe Repair Shop, of Brainerd, in the County of Crow Wing, and State of Minnesota, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 29th day of August, last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

Dated this 11th day of November, A. D. 1924.

BENJAMIN HOFFMAN, as an individual, and also doing business as Brainerd Tailoring and Shoe Repair Shop, Bankrupt.

Order of Notice

District of Minnesota, ss.: On this 15th day of November, A. D. 1924, on reading the Petition for Discharge of the above-named Bankrupt, it is ORDERED By the Court, that a hearing be had upon the same on the 27th day of December, A. D. 1924, before the said court, at Duluth, in said district, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and that notice thereof be published in the Brainerd Dispatch, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered by the court, that the clerk shall send, by mail, to all known creditors, copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated.

WITNESS The Honorable William A. Cant, Judge of the said court, and the seal thereof, at Duluth, in said district, on the 15th day of November, A. D. 1924.

JOEL M. DICKEY, Clerk.

VETERAN APPEALED TO SUPREME COURT

CANNOT SUE U. S. WHERE WITH-
HOLDING COMPENSATION IS NOT ARBITRARY

Washington, Nov. 17.—The United States supreme court today ruled that an ex-service man cannot sue the United States to recover compensation, where the withholding of compensation does not appear arbitrary or unreasonable.

The action was begun by Sam Silberschein, a war veteran, in the federal district court for the eastern district of Michigan, to recover from the United States a rate of compensation he believed due him. The government opposed the suit on the ground that the director of the Veterans Bureau is the sole arbiter under the acts of congress contemplating justice.

The lower courts sustained this view and dismissed the suit.

Electricity on Submarines

The electric storage battery is the thing that has made the submarine possible. When these under-sea boats are cruising on the surface of the water they are driven by steam or gas engines but when they dive toward Davy Jones' locker the engines are stopped and electric motors using energy drawn from the storage batteries keep the propellers whirling. When back on the surface the engines also drive electric dynamo which recharge the storage batteries. On board the U. S. S. V-1, recently launched at the Portsmouth (N. H.) navy yard, practically all of the work is done electrically save propelling the ship when surface cruising.

3 AMENDMENTS OF STATE PASSED

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—Three of the five proposed amendments to the state constitution have passed, according to unofficial compilations, with only a few precincts throughout the state missing.

These three are the gas tax amendment, the reforestation amendment, and the forest fire fighting amendment. Those defeated are the charter publication amendment and the one providing for the building by the state of terminal grain elevators.

The vote totals to date are:

No. 1, gas tax, year, 510,702; no, 193,559.

No. 2, charter amendment, yes, 226,404; no, 209,282.

No. 3, terminal elevator, yes, 252,472; no, 251,913.

No. 4, reforestation, yes, 419,025; no, 139,104.

No. 5, forest fire, yes, 446,115; no, 140,038.

To carry each amendment must have a majority of the vote cast at the election. The total state vote is expected to be about 817,000, making the number of votes necessary to pass an amendment 408,500.

HISTORIC RING NOW IN VERSAILLES MUSEUM

(By United Press)
Paris, Nov. 17.—Houdon Museum, at Versailles, has been enriched by a historical ring the gift of Georges Clemenceau. It is a simple gold monogram ring and originally belonged to Jules Favre. When Favre and Bismark met on January 28, 1871, to sign an armistice after the Franco-German war, it was necessary that proper seals be attached to the document. They were at Versailles, and the proper French seals were in Paris. Bismark objected to the delay necessary to get the seals, so Favre used this ring to stamp the documents.

Exactly forty-eight years and five months later M. Clemenceau, prime minister of France and president of the peace conference, wore this ring when he entered the Gallery of Mirrors in Versailles to tell the Germans where to sign. The ring will be preserved with a sacred collection, which includes the pen that signed the treaty for France and the inkstand used on that historical occasion.

Buick Continues its Leadership

For the seventh consecutive year Buick has first choice of space at the National Automobile Shows. This signal honor is awarded annually by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce to the manufacturer-member having the largest volume of business for the preceding twelve months.

In winning and in maintaining this enviable position year after year, Buick has demonstrated conclusively that the true value of any automobile is reflected in the consistency with which the public buys it.

Since the introduction of the 1925 Buick models, public patronage has increased to an even greater degree—

A tribute to the Buick engineering skill and manufacturing ability that have provided newer and better Buick cars without departing in any way from the fundamentals of power, economy and dependability for which all Buicks have been famous.

LINCOLN SCHOOL TO HOLD CARNIVAL

To be Held in the Building on Saturday Evening. Excellent Program Prepared

MAIN SHOW IN ASSEMBLY ROOM

Curiosity Shop, Dixie, Shadow Pictures, Moving Picture, Bathing Beauties, Etc.

Those in charge of the Lincoln school carnival to be held in that school building on Saturday evening, Nov. 22nd, are putting a great deal of time and work on the coming event, promising to excel in every way the carnival put on so successfully by the school last year.

Among the attractions that will greet the visitor on Saturday evening will be the big main show in the new assembly room. The carnival committee has spared no efforts to provide some of the best talent in the city for this show and state that it will be one that would do credit to any "big time" vaudeville circuit.

Other attractions include The Curiosity Shop, Dixie, Shadow Pictures, a real moving picture, the bathing beauties, merry-go-round, the fortune teller, the beauty shop, and several fish ponds.

In the pop corn and candy sections of the carnival there will be lots of good things to eat and prizes galore to be given away.

The carnival opens promptly at 7 o'clock Saturday evening and will not close until the committee is assured that all visitors have had the time of their lives. All of Brainerd is invited to make merry at this big event, no one will be excluded from the good time, bring your friends and the proper carnival spirit is the main requirement.

The proceeds are to be used in community work. Last year the funds realized were utilized in purchasing encyclopedia, atlas and a Victrola for the Lincoln building, providing a milk diet for undernourished children and the balance turned over to local child welfare work.

KAPPA DELPHIAN CHAPTER

Will Meet Friday Evening at the Home of Mrs. C. D. McKay, 607 Holly Street

(Contributed)

The Kappa Delphian chapter will meet Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. D. McKay, 607 Holly street.

This time is selected to give the younger women an opportunity on the program.

We will begin the study of early civilization in Asia, having just closed a study of Africa.

Mrs. Newman will be the leader Friday evening. The text reports are assigned as follows:

1. Reading of Forgotten Cities—Miss Thompson.
2. Prehistoric Chaldean Civilization—Miss Alice Smith.
3. The Chaldean City-States—Miss Grewcox.
4. Babylonia—Miss Myrtle Smith.
5. The Rise of Assyria—Mrs. Strader.
6. Assyrian Decline—Miss Gertrude Smith.
7. The New Babylonia—Miss Jule O'Brien.

There is a growing interest among the study of ancient history among the Delphian members. This course brings out earlier historical settings for many things found in literature that heretofore have been attributed to Hebrew and Greke writers.

Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. O. Jaakkola were pleasantly surprised on Friday evening by their many friends at the farm home of her mother in South Long Lake township.

The occasion was their return from a trip to Finland, where they visited relatives and old friends.

The evening was spent informally with music and games, followed by delicious refreshments.

FRED W. McKAY DIED IN MONTANA

Oldest Son of W. D. McKay of Brainerd Died of Heart Disease at Bozeman

WAS BORN IN QUYON, CANADA

First Employed in 1st National Bank of Brainerd, Later Engaged in Banking in Montana

Fred W. McKay, oldest son of W. D. McKay, of Brainerd, passed away at noon Sunday at his home in Bozeman, Montana, death resulting from heart trouble, from which he had long been a sufferer.

Deceased was born in Quyon, Canada, October 29th, 1875. He came to Brainerd with his parents while still a small boy, growing to young manhood here, and graduating from the local high school.

For several years he was employed in the First National bank of Brainerd, moving to Bozeman about fifteen years ago, where he was connected with a bank for some ten years. Since that time he has been conducting a real estate and insurance business.

He was married in Brainerd to Miss Jettie Biggs, daughter of one of the principals of the local high school.

Beside his widow and two adopted children, Mr. McKay is survived by his father, one brother Harry, in Old Mexico, Miss Edith McKay in Bozeman, Mabel of Brainerd, and Mrs. Alice Cotton living in the Hawaiian islands.

No funeral arrangements have been learned, but it is expected that interment will be made at Bozeman. W. D. McKay and Mr. and Mrs. John McKay left on the noon train Monday to attend the funeral.

The Dispatch join with the many friends in offering sincere sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives.

JOSEPH TUTCH HAS DISAPPEARED

Owner of Gladstone Lake Farm Left Home Sunday Evening, May Have Fallen in Lake

GRAPPLING HOOKS SENT FOR

Lake in Vicinity of Home is to be Dragged by His Neighbors

Joseph Tutch, owner of Gladstone Lake Farm, on the northeast shore of Gladstone lake, disappeared about seven o'clock Sunday evening and no trace of him had been found up to one o'clock Monday afternoon.

According to Mrs. Tutch her husband took his gas lantern and went out to feed his horses at 6:45 o'clock Sunday evening. Shortly after that time she saw him with his lantern going around the corner of the barn, but no one has seen him since. He had spoken earlier in the evening of going fishing but had given up that idea feeling that the ice was unsafe.

Working on the assumption that Mr. Tutch had become lost in the snow storm of the evening and had wandered away into the woods, the searchers scoured the adjoining country during the night and early morning without results. Any tracks that the man may have made were obliterated by the falling snow.

Fearing that he had wandered into the lake and broken through the ice, the neighbors sent to Brainerd for the grappling hooks kept for that purpose by the local fire department, and will drag the lake in the vicinity of the Tutch home. It is said that a short distance out from shore in front of the house the lake drops off abruptly into about forty feet of water, which with the ice that has formed, will make dragging difficult.

Joseph Tutch is one of five brothers residing in the vicinity of Gladstone lake in Lake Edward township. He is a married man, said to be about fifty years of age, and has one adopted child. He has made his home on Gladstone lake for many years and is well known in that neighborhood.

FIRE AT VARNER HOME, S. E.

Clothes Closet Fire at Home of E. J. Quinn This Afternoon

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a vacant house at 1220 H street, about eight o'clock Saturday evening. The fire had gained such headway when the department arrived and the building being out of the water district, the firemen could do very little toward saving it.

Mrs. Matilda Buxton, who had occupied the dwelling, had recently held a sale, disposing of her household goods, and had moved to Minneapolis several weeks ago, it is reported.

A fire about ten o'clock Monday morning threatened the home of a family by the name of Varner residing at 1316 Maple street. The flames started under the range in the kitchen and burned a large hole in the floor.

The department was called to the home of E. J. Quinn, 616 North Sixth street at 2:20 o'clock Monday afternoon, to extinguish a blaze that started in a clothes closet. It was extinguished before it spread to other parts of the house. The clothes contained in the closet were destroyed by the fire, it is reported.

Curiosity Shop, Dixie, Shadow Pictures, Moving Picture, Bathing Beauties, Etc.

Those in charge of the Lincoln school carnival to be held in that school building on Saturday evening, Nov. 22nd, are putting a great deal of time and work on the coming event, promising to excel in every way the carnival put on so successfully by the school last year.

Among the attractions that will greet the visitor on Saturday evening will be the big main show in the new assembly room. The carnival committee has spared no efforts to provide some of the best talent in the city for this show and state that it will be one that would do credit to any "big time" vaudeville circuit. Other attractions include The Curiosity Shop, Dixie, Shadow Pictures, a real moving picture, the bathing beauties, merry-go-round, the fortune teller, the beauty shop, and several fish ponds.

In the pop corn and candy sections of the carnival there will be lots of good things to eat and prizes galore to be given away.

The carnival opens promptly at 7 o'clock Saturday evening and will not close until the committee is assured that all visitors have had the time of their lives. All of Brainerd is invited to make merry at this big event, no one will be excluded from the good time, bring your friends and the proper carnival spirit is the main requirement.

The proceeds are to be used in community work. Last year the funds realized were utilized in purchasing encyclopedia, atlas and a Victrola for the Lincoln building, providing a milk diet for undernourished children and the balance turned over to local child welfare work.

KAPPA DELPHIAN CHAPTER

Will Meet Friday Evening at the Home of Mrs. C. D. McKay, 607 Holly Street

(Contributed)

The Kappa Delphian chapter will meet Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. D. McKay, 607 Holly street.

This time is selected to give the younger women an opportunity on the program.

We will begin the study of early civilization in Asia, having just closed a study of Africa.

Mrs. Newman will be the leader Friday evening. The text reports are assigned as follows:

1. Reading of Forgotten Cities—Miss Thompson.
2. Prehistoric Chaldean Civilization—Miss Alice Smith.
3. The Chaldean City-States—Miss Grewcox.
4. Babylonia—Miss Myrtle Smith.
5. The Rise of Assyria—Mrs. Strader.
6. Assyrian Decline—Miss Gertrude Smith.
7. The New Babylonia—Miss Julie O'Brien.

There is a growing interest in the study of ancient history among the Delphian members. This course brings out earlier historical settings for many things found in literature that heretofore have been attributed to Hebrew and Greek writers.

Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. O. Jaakkola were pleasantly surprised on Friday evening by their many friends at the farm home of her mother in South Long Lake township.

The occasion was their return from a trip to Finland, where they visited relatives and old friends.

The evening was spent informally with music and games, followed by delicious refreshments.

FRED W. McKAY DIED IN MONTANA

Oldest Son of W. D. McKay of Brainerd Died of Heart Disease at Bozeman

WAS BORN IN QUYON, CANADA

First Employed in 1st National Bank of Brainerd, Later Engaged in Banking in Montana

Fred W. McKay, oldest son of W. D. McKay, of Brainerd, passed away at noon Sunday at his home in Bozeman, Montana, death resulting from heart trouble, from which he had long been a sufferer.

Deceased was born in Quyon, Canada, October 29th, 1875. He came to Brainerd with his parents while still a small boy, growing to young manhood here, and graduating from the local high school.

For several years he was employed in the First National bank of Brainerd, moving to Bozeman about fifteen years ago, where he was connected with a bank for some ten years. Since that time he has been conducting a real estate and insurance business.

He was married in Brainerd to Miss Jettie Bigg, daughter of one of the principals of the local high school.

Beside his widow and two adopted children, Mr. McKay is survived by his father, one brother Harry, in Old Mexico, Miss Edith McKay in Bozeman, Mabel of Brainerd, and Mrs. Alice Cotton living in the Hawaiian Islands.

No funeral arrangements have been learned, but it is expected that interment will be made at Bozeman. W. D. McKay and Mr. and Mrs. John McKay left on the noon train Monday to attend the funeral.

The Dispatch join with the many friends in offering sincere sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives.

JOSEPH TUTCH HAS DISAPPEARED

Owner of Gladstone Lake Farm Left Home Sunday Evening, May Have Fallen in Lake

GRAPPLING HOOKS SENT FOR

Lake in Vicinity of Home is to be Dragged by His Neighbors

Joseph Tutch, owner of Gladstone Lake Farm, on the northeast shore of Gladstone lake, disappeared about seven o'clock Sunday evening and no trace of him had been found up to one o'clock Monday afternoon.

According to Mrs. Tutch her husband took his gas lantern and went out to feed his horses at 6:45 o'clock Sunday evening. Shortly after that time she saw him with his lantern going around the corner of the barn, but no one has seen him since. He had spoken earlier in the evening of going fishing but had given up that idea feeling that the ice was unsafe.

Working on the assumption that Mr. Tutch had become lost in the snow storm of the evening and had wandered away into the woods, the searchers scoured the adjoining country during the night and early morning without results. Any tracks that the man may have made were obliterated by the falling snow.

Fearing that he had wandered into the lake and broken through the ice, the neighbors sent to Brainerd for the grappling hooks kept for that purpose by the local fire department, and will drag the lake in the vicinity of the Tutch home. It is said that a short distance out from shore in front of the house the lake drops off abruptly into about forty feet of water, which with the ice that has formed, will make dragging difficult.

Joseph Tutch is one of five brothers residing in the vicinity of Gladstone lake in Lake Edward township. He is a married man, said to be about fifty years of age, and has one adopted child. He has made his home on Gladstone lake for many years and is well known in that neighborhood.

THREE FIRES IN CITY IN 3 DAYS

Blaze of Unknown Origin Destroyed House at 1220 H. Street, Outside Hydrant Area

FIRE AT VARNER HOME, S. E.

Clothes Closet Fire at Home of E. J. Quinn This Afternoon

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a vacant house at 1220 H street, about eight o'clock Saturday evening. The fire had gained such headway when the department arrived and the building being out of the water district, the firemen could do very little toward saving it.

Mrs. Matilda Buxton, who had occupied the dwelling, had recently held a sale, disposing of her household goods, and had moved to Minneapolis several weeks ago, it is reported.

A fire about ten o'clock Monday morning threatened the home of a family by the name of Varner residing at 1316 Maple street. The flames started under the range in the kitchen and burned a large hole in the floor.

The department was called to the home of E. J. Quinn, 616 North Sixth street at 2:20 o'clock Monday afternoon, to extinguish a blaze that started in a clothes closet. It was extinguished before it spread to other parts of the house. The clothes contained in the closet were destroyed by the fire, it is reported.

TILDEN CONTROVERSY NEAR SOLUTION

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 17.—With reasonable fairness being shown by both factions in a reconsideration of that perplexing player-writer problem, it seems certain now that the United States Lawn Tennis Association will be able to reach a popular decision on what is to be done with the case of William T. Tilden.

The insistence of the world's champion that he could continue to act as a tennis expert and a reporter for a news syndicate without violating a fair interpretation of the amateur rule brought about a situation that not only threatened to cause the retirement of the game's greatest player but put in jeopardy America's future title to the classic Davis Cup, the emblem of the world's team championship.

The tennis association, in taking a rather arbitrary stand, apparently failed to consider that the controversy was not a family matter and it underestimated the interest of the general public in tennis and in Tilden.

When the association backed up the amateur rules committee on the new interpretation of what constitutes an amateur it assumed the rather autocratic attitude toward Tilden that if he didn't like it he could quit. Bitter feeling was aroused when the two factions started to air their views in public and the association, through some of its leading members, lost dignity by entering into a petty battle of personalities.

Tilden just about held his own in the exchange of compliments and the argument might have continued indefinitely if one of the champion's supporters had not asked several of the leaders of the anti-Tilden faction to admit that they also were making some money out of tennis connections.

The controversy stopped then and both factions wisely adopted the course of fighting privately.

It seemed, however, that as long as the controversy was to be continued purely as a tennis argument that there was little hope of reaching an amicable understanding as the membership of the association was almost hopelessly divided. The anti-Tilden faction seemed reasonably sure of controlling every vote on the issue but there would have been no satisfaction in securing a victory that would destroy the unity of membership which has had such a major part in the remarkable growth and development of tennis as an international sport.

The contention of Tilden's supporters that he was being persecuted for reasons other than those printed in the amateur rule, under the penalty of which he was to have been banished, not only would have withdrawn a lot of public support from the association but it would have impaired the dignity and respect which the association commands in international tennis. There was also no real way of ascertaining the extent of Tilden's support among the players. There were reasons to believe that if Tilden removed himself from the jurisdiction of the association that other players might follow him and that the bolting players might be numerically and popularly strong enough to start another organization in opposition to the present controlling body.

GOPHERS DRUB

ILLINOIS 20 TO 7 ON SATURDAY

MARVELOUS REVERSAL OF FORM SHOWN BY MINNESOTA

CLARENCE SCHUTTE BATTERS THROUGH FOR THREE TOUCHDOWNS

(From Minneapolis Journal)
Minnesota beat Illinois 20 to 7 on Saturday in the wonder game of the 1924 football season.

In the most marvelous reversal of form that the gridiron has seen in many years, the Gophers trounced Zupke's near champions with an uncanny ease, made "Red" Grange lose more yards than he gained, knocked the Big Ten title beyond the Illini's grasp and played well high perfect football.

Not given even an outside chance in the dope, the fighting Gophers dazed their most hopeful admirers by the facility with which they waded through their supposedly invincible rivals, after the first few minutes of play. In those first few minutes, by the way, it looked like Illinois was going to walk right off with everything in sight.

Grange Held Helpless

And while the mighty Grange was held helpless, Clarence Schutte, Minnesota halfback, scintillated as the brightest star of the day, scoring all three of Minnesota's touchdowns and, on top of that, making a fourth that was called back because of a penalty.

Glorious work by the individual stars of the backfield, perfect interference, a machine that was timed and geared to the fraction of a second and a mighty line that held and held—these were the factors in a victory that will stand out for all time in the annals of Minnesota football, for the game was one of the greatest in the history of the university, a game in which the Gophers showed more concentrated power than the famous winning team of 1916. By the way, they yesterday avenged the defeat of that same 1916 team by Zupke.

Wonder Game of 1924

And it was all done by a team that had been playing the most indifferent of football all season, a team that hadn't won a conference game in five starts, a team that was considered pure duck soup for the title grasping Illini. That's what made it all the more of a surprise to Zupke, who until yesterday never led a team to defeat on a Minnesota gridiron.

Surely it was the most wonderful dedication that any stadium ever has had since Mr. Domitian formally opened the Roman coliseum.

Gophers Hit Their Stride
Minnesota, the underdog, came from behind. The Gophers were scored on in the first six minutes by "Red" Grange, who skirted the end for 10 yards for a touchdown. They carried on slowly, hit their true stride, tied the score, took the lead, and from then on were never even seriously threatened.

More than 40,000 spectators saw Illinois battered before an avalanche that completely smothered Grange the "point a minute" scorer. Grange tried his best to pull his mates out of the hole but, instead, saw his interference riddled, his fellow warriors cut down and Maroon and Gold takers always in his way.

Grange Knocked Out
Here is Grange's work of the day: Carried the ball 16 times; lost 25 yards on five attempts; gained 22 yards on six tries and was stopped five times without a gain.

On two returns of punts made eight yards.

Made three forward passes that gained 37 yards.

Intercepted a Minnesota pass and returned 22 yards, and had two of his passes intercepted.

ARGENTINE HAS TURNED ON FIRPO

Buenos Aires, Nov. 17.—A nation has found its idol's feet are clay.

While half of Argentina mourns Luis Angel Firpo's downfall, the other half is going around kicking itself.

"Fat motor car salesman goes to the ring for his punishment," says the headline of one paper describing the boxer's defeat by Charley Weinert at Newark Wednesday night.

The city which blazed with Firpo's name in electric lights and erected monuments in his honor when he knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring in the first round of the most sensational heavyweight battle of history, now ridicules the fallen Firpo.

"The calf of the Pampas bawls no more," says another headline. "Firpo's funeral," reads another. In many instances chagrin and self-reproach are evident. Says the Critica, in what it calls the boxer's obituary:

"We once pointed him out to Argentine children as a stalwart representative of his country. In years to come we will tell people: 'See that fat man? Once he was opponent to Jack Dempsey. Now he is rich and rheumatic.'"

"Once the idol of Buenos Aires, Firpo's former followers now call him Jumbo and grin derisively at mention of his name."

A feeling exists that Firpo lazily neglected to train properly.

KEARNS TO ENTER PROMOTING GAME ON PACIFIC COAST

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, will enter the ranks of prize fight promoters under California's new boxing law, he wired the sporting editor of the San Francisco Bulletin today.

"Contemplating building an arena with a seating capacity of 80,000 people in California," Kearns' wife, published by the Bulletin, says:

"Have closed for the services of Abe Goldstein, Benny Leonard, Mickey Walker, Gene Tunney, Johnny Dundee, Jack Renault and other star boxers," Kearns is quoted as saying.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advt.

TILDEN CONTROVERSY NEAR SOLUTION

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 17.—With reasonable fairness being shown by both factions in a reconsideration of that perplexing player-writer problem, it seems certain now that the United States Lawn Tennis Association will be able to reach a popular decision on what is to be done with the case of William T. Tilden.

The insistence of the world's champion that he could continue to act as a tennis expert and a reporter for a news syndicate without violating a fair interpretation of the amateur rule brought about a situation that not only threatened to cause the retirement of the game's greatest player but put in jeopardy America's future title to the classic Davis Cup, the emblem of the world's team championship.

The tennis association, in taking a rather arbitrary stand, apparently failed to consider that the controversy was not a family matter and it underestimated the interest of the general public in tennis and in Tilden.

When the association backed up the amateur rules committee on the new interpretation of what constitutes an amateur it assumed the rather autocratic attitude toward Tilden that if he didn't like it he could quit. Bitter feeling was aroused when the two factions started to air their views in public and the association, through some of its leading members, lost dignity by entering into a petty battle of personalities.

Tilden just about held his own in the exchange of compliments and the argument might have continued indefinitely if one of the champion's supporters had not asked several of the leaders of the anti-Tilden faction to admit that they also were making some money out of tennis connections.

The controversy stopped then and both factions wisely adopted the course of fighting privately.

It seemed, however, that as long as the controversy was to be continued purely as a tennis argument that there was little hope of reaching an amicable understanding as the membership of the association was almost hopelessly divided. The anti-Tilden faction seemed reasonably sure of controlling every vote on the issue but there would have been no satisfaction in securing a victory that would destroy the unity of membership which has had such a major part in the remarkable growth and development of tennis as an international sport.

The contention of Tilden's supporters that he was being persecuted for reasons other than those printed in the amateur rule, under the penalty of which he was to have been banished, not only would have withdrawn a lot of public support from the association but it would have impaired the dignity and respect which the association commands in international tennis. There was also no real way of ascertaining the extent of Tilden's support among the players. There were reasons to believe that if Tilden removed himself from the jurisdiction of the association that other players might follow him and that the bolting players might be numerically and popularly strong enough to start another organization in opposition to the present controlling body.

Sporting Squibs

Twelve years is said to cover the career of the average baseball player.

The first baseball team to win a championship was the New Yorks, in 1858.

Hobby Jones, amateur golf champion, is the finest shot-maker in the game.

The first shut-out game in the annals of baseball took place at Dexter park, Chicago, July 23, 1870.

Wagner led the National league in batting for eight years. Cobb led the American league for twelve years.

Prior to 1858 it was customary in baseball to have two umpires—one chosen by each club—and a referee.

Chicago Nationals have purchased Al Niehaus, first baseman, from Chattanooga of the Southern association.

Several of the cities in the Southern league circuit passed well beyond the 200,000 mark in attendance this year.

Norman (Kid) Elberfeld has signed a contract to manage the Mobile, Southern association baseball team, for next year.

Chick Evans has volunteered to teach the President how to play. This seems like a political play to get some of Mr. Davis' golf votes.

Athletics in the United States hold 35 of the 90 world's records for track and field events. Great Britain is next with 25 and Finland is third with 12.

In the recent Grand American trapshooting tournament at Dayton, Ohio, a total of 404,645 targets were used, a record number for the trapshooting classic.

Baltimore won its sixth consecutive pennant in the International league this season. No other club in the history of organized baseball has won six flags in a row.

According to Tom Gibbons, the American boxer, our English boxers don't fight enough. The trouble is that some American boxers stop them.

Jack Dempsey is the joint owner, with Jack Kearns, his manager, of two de luxe apartment hotels in Los Angeles. The hotels are said to be worth over $1,000,000.

Jack Dempsey will defend his title of world's heavyweight champion in Madison Square Garden, New York city, this winter, and Tom Gibbons will most likely be his opponent.

The only thing that everybody agrees upon in this baseball scandal is that Cozy Dolan wasn't offering his own $500. One might as well expect a player piano to lay a dozen eggs.

I. Yamada of Japan, a brother of Koji Yamada, former billiard champion of Japan, is in this country on a visit. He says Koji may participate in bakline championship matches next year.

R. H. McGarity, Washington, civilian, established a new world's record recently when he ran up a string of 120 consecutive bull's-eyes on the 220-yard small bore range with a 32-caliber rifle at prone position in a match at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Daddy Vance says he will never forget his defeat by Chicago, in which he allowed only four hits, but three of them happened to be home runs. There is plenty of dynamite in Vance's fast ball when the batsman properly times it.

Hermit Crab's Protection

The hermit crab, says Nature Magazine, protects itself by inserting its abdomen into some empty shell which it carries about in all of its wanderings.

GOPHERS DRUB ILLINOIS 20 TO 7 ON SATURDAY

MARVELOUS REVERSAL OF FORM SHOWN BY MINNEAPOLIS SOTANS

CLARENCE SCHUTTE BATTERS THROUGH FOR THREE TOUCHDOWNS

(From Minneapolis Journal)

Minnesota beat Illinois 20 to 7 on Saturday in the wonder game of the 1924 football season.

In the most marvelous reversal of form that the gridiron has seen in many years, the Gophers trounced Zuppke's near champions with an uncanny ease, made "Red" Grange lose more yards than he gained, knocked the Big Ten title beyond the Illini's grasp and played well nigh perfect football.

Not given even an outside chance in the dope, the fighting Gophers dazed their most hopeful admirers by the facility with which they waded through their supposedly invincible rivals, after the first few minutes of play. In those first few minutes, by the way, it looked like Illinois was going to walk right off with everything in sight.

Grange Held Helpless

And while the mighty Grange was held helpless, Clarence Schutte, Minnesota halfback, scintillated as the brightest star of the day, scoring all three of Minnesota's touchdowns and, on top of that, making a fourth that was called back because of a penalty.

Glorious work by the individual stars of the backfield, perfect interference, a machine that was timed and geared to the fraction of a second and a mighty line that held and held—these were the factors in a victory that will stand out for all time in the annals of Minnesota football, for the game was one of the greatest in the history of the university, a game in which the Gophers showed more concentrated power than the famous winning team of 1916. By the way, they yesterday avenged the defeat of that same 1916 team by Zuppke.

Wonder Game of 1924

And it was all done by a team that had been playing the most indifferent of football all season, a team that hadn't won a conference game in five starts, a team that was considered pure duck soup for the title grasping Illini. That's what made it all the more of a surprise to Zuppke, who until yesterday never led a team to defeat on a Minnesota gridiron.

Surely it was the most wonderful

dedication that any stadium ever has had since Mr. Domitian formally opened the Roman coliseum.

Gophers Hit Their Stride

Minnesota, the underdog, came from behind. The Gophers were scored on in the first six minutes by "Red" Grange, who skirted the end for 10 yards for a touchdown. They carried on slowly, hit their true stride, tied the score, took the lead, and from then on were never even seriously threatened.

More than 40,000 spectators saw Illinois battered before an avalanche that completely smothered Grange the "point a minute" scorer. Grange tried his best to pull his mate, out of the hole but, instead, saw his interference riddled, his fellow warriors cut down and Maroon and Gold tacklers always in his way.

Grange Knocked Out

Here is Grange's work of the day: Carried the ball 16 times; lost 25 yards on five attempts, gained 22 yards on six tries and was stopped five times without a gain.

On two returns of punts made eight yards.

Made three forward passes that gained 37 yards.

Intercepted a Minnesota pass and returned 22 yards, and had two of his passes intercepted.

ARGENTINE HAS TURNED ON FIRPO

Buenos Aires, Nov. 17.—A nation has found its idol's feet are clay.

While half of Argentina mourns Luis Angel Firpo's downfall, the other half is going around kicking itself.

"Fat motor car salesman goes to the ring for his punishment," says the headline of one paper describing the boxer's defeat by Charley Weinert at Newark Wednesday night.

The city which blazed with Firpo's name in electric lights and erected monuments in his honor when he knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring in the first round of the most sensational heavyweight battle of history, now ridicules the fallen Firpo.

"The calf of the Pampas bawls no more," says another headline. "Firpo's funeral," reads another. In many instances chagrin and self-reproach are evident. Says the Criti-ca, in what it calls the boxer's obituary:

"We once pointed him out to Argentine children as a stalwart representative of his country. In years to come we will tell people: 'See that fat man? Once he was opponent to Jack Dempsey. Now he is rich and rheumatic.'"

"Once the idol of Buenos Aires, Firpo's former followers now call him Jumbo and grin derisively at mention of his name."

A feeling exists that Firpo lazily neglected to train properly.

KEARNS TO ENTER PROMOTING GAME ON PACIFIC COAST

San Francisco, Nov. 17.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, will enter the ranks of prize fight promoters under California's new boxing law, he wired the sporting editor of the San Francisco Bulletin today.

"Contemplating building an arena with a seating capacity of 80,000 people in California," Kearns' wife, published by the Bulletin, says:

"Have closed for the services of Abe Goldstein, Benny Leonard, Mickey Walker, Gene Tunney, Johnny Dundee, Jack Renault and other star boxers," Kearns is quoted as saying.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advt.

THESE COLLEGE GIRLS PLAY REGULATION FOOTBALL BUT GRUDGINGLY BAR THE SHOESTRING TACKLE

The girls of Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn., pictured above, are members of the only girls' football teams in the Northwest. Their annual game for the gridiron supremacy of their schools is one of the big events of the year. They are coached in the fine points of the game by members of the varsity eleven and play under regulation rules but have bowed to the ruling that shoestring tackles must be barred.
